Mayor Bolsters Reservoir Guard Set-Up

TAKES ACTION AFTER EXPOSE OF CONDITIONS

Calls Waterworks Head For Explanation of Laxities In Protection System.

ORDERS WORK SPEEDED

Mayor Issues Instructions To Hurry Work of Constructing Fence Around Grounds.

By WILLIAM F. MURRAY

On the heels of a News-Journal expose story which yesterday showed that Mansfield's city reservoir could have been easily blown up by saboteurs, Mayor William J. Locke today took immediate steps to correct the laxity of guards and increase the protective system there.

The mayor said he called in O. C. Kalbfleisch, waterworks superintendent, and asked for an explanation of how two News-Journal reporters could prowl about the Woodland reservoir for more than half an hour without being challenged by an armed guard who was supposed to be patrolling the reservoir.

Kalbfleisch told the mayor that the guards had been on duty and that they had orders to patrol the top and sides at intervals. The waterworks superintendent said that the guards had challenged several persons who attempted to take pictures in the vicinity of the reservoir.

As for the success of the News-Journal reporters, Kalbfleisch told the mayor that he couldn't explain it but that he thought "the guards would be extra-cautious in the future."

Next, Locke said he talked with C. H. Hebel, street superintendent, who is in charge of the erection of a wire fence around the reservoir, and ordered him to speed work on the project.

Finally, Locke conferred with Police Chief Thomas M. Bell and ordered him to set up a program for training of guards at the reservoir and also to set up a schedule by which a police cruiser would patrol visit the reservoir at irregular intervals.

"I have asked the police to make an investigation of the situation," said Locke, "and if it is found that anyone has been negli-

Brazil Readies War Declaration

Council OK's Gas Station Curfew Bill

Measure Still Requires Mayor's Signature for Immediate Operation.

City council last night passed an ordinance setting a curfew for the closing of Mansfield gasoline stations but the measure did not go into effect immediately because it requires Mayor W. J. Locke's signature.

The ordinance, passed by a 6-2 vote, provides for the operation of all retail gasoline stations in the city between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. daily and between 7 a. m. and 1 p. m. on Sundays. Violation of the ordinance calls for a fine up to $100.

Councilmen voting against the curfew were: George C. Kyle and Roy W. Vaughn. Those voting in its favor were: Councilmen Fred Miller, Michael Mihalick, James R. Anderson, Clifford G. Knarr, Russell D. Porch and C. N. Shultz.

Mayor Locke said that he had not signed the ordinance as yet and that he had made "no decision on the matter." The ordinance will not become a law unless the mayor signs it. Locke has 10 days in which to sign or veto the measure before allowing it to become a law automatically.

Urged by the Mansfield Gasoline Retailers association, a group of independent dealers, the ordinance would prevent several stations now operating throughout the night to retain those hours.

The association leaders claim that the ordinance is needed to help conserve gasoline, tires, and other automotive materials.

Under the provisions of the ordinance, Mansfield motorists would have to get their gasoline during the daylight hours. In case of an emergency, they could obtain it from two centrally-located stations which will be kept open. Motorists would be required to get a permit from the police depart-

CHARGES WAR PLANTS DOING HALF A JOB

Nelson Declares Industries Operating at 50 Per Cent of Their Capacity.

DEMANDS 'NO FOOLING'

Production Chief Blames Pay Disputes, Faulty Flow of Material For Lag.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The nation's war industries were told today that they were operating at only 50 per cent of capacity, although "face to face with an enemy determined to destroy us."

Bespeaking a determined public demand for faster "production, and no fooling," Donald M. Nelson blamed the current output lag on these main causes:

Reluctance to increase the number of shifts;

Lack of imagination in meeting production problems;

The issue of extra pay for holidays and Sundays;

Faulty flow of materials;

Time required to train new men;

Shortages of certain specialized facilities.

The war production chief, in a radio address to the country last night, voiced his belief that these difficulties could be overcome by government, labor and management working together in concerted effort.

"If all our equipment now involved in war production were used 24 hours a day, seven days a week," he declared, "we would practically double the man-hours being put into military production."

By a coincidence, the enemy helped emphasize Nelson's urgent words. Before he spoke, the Tokyo radio station staked Nippon's hopes of ultimate victory on her ability to outdo both the United States and Britain in the battle of production.

In his survey of the present production situation, Nelson said that no single group was responsible. "Name-calling won't help," he cautioned. "Such stuff is distracting. It takes the eye off the

Grid Star Heads Ohio Tire Retread Rationing

Inwood Smith to Direct Division of State Program

Inwood Smith, native Mansfielder who gained All-American honors as a lineman at Ohio State in 1935, today was appointed as one of the two men to direct Ohio's war rationing program.

He was placed in charge of tires and recaping rationing, according to an announcement today in Columbus. Harry J. Patterson, former manager of the Cincinnati Unemployment Compensation office, was placed in charge of automobile and sugar rationing.

Patterson lost his job with the Cincinnati office of the bureau of unemployment compensation when the federal government took over the employment service the first of this year.

Patterson recently was the center of bitter controversy between the state administration and the federal security administration, which accused him of violating the Hatch "clean politics" act. The state refused to dismiss him, however, as long as it had control of the employment service.

Harry Y. Beckmann of Van Wert, state rationing administrator, said "there is too much work for one man to supervise the whole job."

"I have split the rationing programs between Mr. Smith and Mr. Patterson and when additional jobs are given to us the departmentalization will be continued," Beckmann said.

Smith started with Westinghouse in Mansfield as a student in June, 1937. A year later he joined the staff of the American Sales company, Westinghouse distributor in Columbus, and in June, 1940, he was appointed Merchandise Manager of the Westinghouse Electric Supply company branch in Grand Rapids. Recently he was transferred to the company's office in Cleveland, and he comes to his rationing post from that office.

Vargas Signs Measure Giving Him Power to Put Nation Into Conflict.

SINKINGS SPUR ACT

Four Brazilian Ships Sent To Botfom; Two More Go Down Off U. S. Coast.

(By United Press)

RIO DE JANEIRO—Brazil was believed today to be preparing to declare war against the Axis.

President Getulio Vargas signed a measure which gives him power to issue such a declaration in event he finds it necessary for Brazil's defense.

Simultaneously, it was understood that all Brazilian shipping had been ordered into the nearest ports, presumably for the purpose of taking measures to protect them against the growing menace of submarine attacks.

Vargas was empowered to take action against the nationals of any country which endangers Brazil's national security and may, if he finds it necessary, declare a state of emergency.

The Brazilian action was in line with the record of the Vargas government which has backed the United States in all measures of hemispheric defense.

The new powers vested in Vargas permit him to declare war or a state of emergency without waiting for a vote of the Brazilian parliament.

Approval of the new powers, following closely upon the sinking of four Brazilian ships by submarines, was considered a clear indication that the government is about to act.

Vargas signed a constitutional amendment giving him power to declare war when "the defense of the state makes it necessary to use armed forces."

The order to all Brazilian shipping followed the sinking of four Brazilian merchant ships in less than a month and indications of

RAAF Planes In Steady Attacks Upon Invaders

Enemy Fleet Sighted Off New Guinea Moving Toward Port Moresby; Seven Vessels Are Sunk or Set Afire During Assault.

(By United Press)

MELBOURNE—Reports circulated today that a Japanese invasion fleet has been sighted in New Guinea waters moving toward Port Moresby, key to the northeast approaches to Australia.

The Japanese invasion fleet was reported under almost constant attack by relays of Australian planes, blasting at the Japanese ships in a desperate effort to delay or prevent an attack on Moresby.

Officials at Canberra declined to confirm or deny the reports but they were believed to be correct.

It was not clear whether the invasion fleet is the same Japanese fleet concentration which was attacked by the Royal Australian Air Force near New Guinea with smashing results.

A communique on the attack said that seven to nine enemy vessels, including at least one and perhaps two warships were damaged, set afire or sunk.

A flaming trail of blazing, beached or sinking Japanese vessels was left by Australian fliers, including veteran airmen withdrawn from other fighting fronts, in the largest raid of the war against the enemy forces headed toward this continent, air communiques disclosed.

(A dozen Japanese bombers raided Port Moresby, on the south coast of New Guinea, this morning for the third successive day, the Australian radio, heard by CBS, reported. No damage or casualties were reported.)

One large cruiser was attacked at Salamaua, on north New Guinea, and another warship on which several direct hits were scored was described as either a cruiser or a large destroyer.

Although the air blows were credited with slowing the Japanese invasion drive toward Australia, communiques pointed out that it was impossible to list exact results because a number of raids were made on the New Guinea bases and some of the enemy vessels were attacked several times.

The attack on one warship definitely identified as a cruiser was made under conditions which prevented the Australian pilots from confirming results, the communique said.

Air Minister Arthur S. Drakeford said that one "very large transport" was among the Japanese losses and that another vessel suffered six direct hits with large bombs and a number of near misses.

Japanese bases, airdromes and airplanes also were attacked in

Fliers, Adrift 34 Days, Welcome Sight of Shark

Three U. S. Navy Men Eat Albatross, Drink Rain Water and Use Shoes for Oars In Battle With Sea.

(By Associated Press)

PEARL HARBOR, T. H.—Accept the words of three United States navy fliers who were tossed by—and sometimes in—the stormy South Seas during 34 days adrift on a rubber raft, there are times when one is tickled to death to see a shark.

Shark liver . . . the meat of an albatross . . . a fish caught with a pocketknife . . . a tern snatched by hand . . . a floating cocoanut. These sustained the courageous trio as, naked and baked by the sun, they used shoes for oars to travel 1,000 miles to the safety of an island after their land plane ran low on fuel and they were forced to alight in the ocean Jan. 16.

Today they are recovering in Pearl Harbor—Harold Dixon, 42, of LaMesa, Calif., aviation chief machinists mate and pilot; Gene Aldrich, 24, of Sikeston, Mo., radioman; and Anthony J. Pastula, 24, of Youngstown, Ohio, aviation ordnanceman.

Let Dixon describe the day before they sighted land:

"All our clothes were gone. We had failed rapidly in physical and mental condition. I'd already lost three sets of skin from sunburn and I was cooked like a Thanksgiving turkey. Our tempers were short. I would get so mad I couldn't see when I would say something and the boys would sit and appear not to hear.

"Things looked pretty sour but we agreed this was no time to give up. We tried to sleep in huddles that night, but part of the time we had to bail out the boat with our hands because the clothes used for a scoop had been ripped or washed away. We

ESCAPES SIEGE

Mystery Letter Reaches U. S. From Corregidor.

OMAHA, Neb. —(INS)— Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Pigg displayed a letter today written at Corregidor by their son serving with Gen. MacArthur in the Philippines, but how the U. S. army—or the navy—got the letter out of the besieged island they were at loss to know.

It contained a plea for "the tools, the weapons and the planes we need." The son, Ronald O. Pigg, a captain in the army engineers corps, wrote the letter Jan. 30. The envelope was stamped "via air mail" and bore a censor's mark dated March 5.

The letter was the first known instance here of mail coming out of Corregidor since the siege.

PROMISE: Churchill Repeats Vow India to Receive Freedom

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Prime Minister Churchill repeated today Britain's promise of dominion status for imperilled India after the war and announced that his ranking aide, Sir Stafford Cripps, would go to India as an emissary to seek assurance that a precise plan already drafted by London would gain general Indian acceptance.

The promise of Indian self-government within the British commonwealth of nations after the war, first made in August, 1940, so far has failed to mollify Indian nationalists.

But Churchill, in a long-awaited statement to the house of commons, disclosed that the government, in order to "clothe these general declarations with precision and to convince all classes, races and creeds in India of our sincere resolve," had gone a step forward and agreed to a detailed plan.

He did not, however, disclose the exact nature of the concessions by which his government hopes to win the loyalty of India's 350,000,000 peoples for the defense of the rich sub-continent now threatened by the Japanese advance in Burma and to the Indian ocean.

"We should ill serve the common cause if we made a declaration which would be rejected by essential elements in the Indian world and which would provoke

HELP: American-Built Trucks Go Into Action on Red Front

BULLETIN

NEW YORK—(INS—CBS today recorded a BBC broadcast stating: "There is a report that the Russians have cut the highway running between Smolensk and Vyazma."

(By Associated Press)

United States-built trucks and motor cars, some still bearing the olive drab paint of the U. S. Army, mingled with Russian vehicles in Moscow today as fresh evidence of Allied supply aid for the Red army.

These vehicles have been pressed into immediate service by the Russians—just as imported tanks and planes were thrown into action—in the effort to destroy Adolf Hitler and his cohorts by the end of 1942.

Germany, suffering from casualties estimated in Moscow Feb. 22 to total 6,000,000 men, was reported to have called upon Hungary, Slovakia and Italy for as many as 2,600,000 fresh troops to bolster spring offensive operations.

British bombers struck again overnight at German objectives in an effort to cripple war supply work reported in Stockholm to be taking up more than two-thirds of Germany's industrial capacity.

German officials declared these attacks were only nuisance raids, "militarily quite ineffective." Three British planes were reported shot down.

A Free French radio broadcast from Brazzaville, French Equatorial Africa, said De Gaullist troops had entered the final stage of raids upon Italian positions in southwest Libya.

Important munitions depots were destroyed, Fascist outposts were seriously damaged and prisoners were taken in a 1,200-mile drive from the Lake Chad region across the great Fezzan desert, it was said.

With pre-spring thaws already melting snow on the long battleline, dispatches indicated that the Russians were smashing with ever increasing fury to demoralize the Germans and keep them reeling backwards instead of organizing a spring counter-drive.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged that the Red armies were striking in mass attacks on the southern (Ukraine) front and holding the initiative on the Moscow and Leningrad fronts.

'Unidentified Object' Causes West Coast Warning.

LOS ANGELES —(UP)— Presence of an "unidentified object" off the Southern California coast shortly before dawn today brought a one-hour alert to the area between Santa Barbara and San Diego.

The fourth interceptor command ordered a "yellow," or preliminary alert, at 5:49 a. m. (PWT) and a "blue" alert at 5:55 a. m. A "blue" alert usually precedes a blackout, but none was ordered, and the all-clear signal was given at 6:55 a. m.

Radio stations were ordered off the air with the first warning.

NAMED DEFENSE AREA

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Toledo has been designated an inland defense area by the office of civilian defense.

Thief Steals 4 Tires, Puts Old Ones Back on Car

A Lucas motorist today was the victim of a tire thief who apparently had a little kindness in his heart and left four old tires and wheels for the four nearly new ones he took.

And what's more, the thief went to the trouble to put the old tires and wheels on the car after removing the good ones.

The motorist, whose name was not available, said he discovered last night that the four good tires on his car had been replaced with old ones that were badly worn.

He said the thief had removed the wheels as well as tires and replaced them with those from a car of the same make. The car owner said he was not certain when or where the tires were taken since he noticed the change for the first time last night.

He had not reported the theft to Sheriff Frank E. Robinson today and Lucas authorities could not be reached. It was understood the car owner is employed in Mansfield.

Prep Football Star Enlists In Navy as Apprentice.

CHICAGO—(UP)—Bill De Correvont, at one time the nation's most publicized prep football star and an outstanding varsity halfback at Northwestern the last three years, joined the navy "the hard way" today and said he was through with football.

"I'm going to start at the bottom in the navy and do it the hard way," De Correvont said as he reported for his physical examination.

Lieut. David Goldenson, recruiting officer, said preliminary tests had shown that De Correvont would pass the physical and that he would be enlisted as an apprentice seaman at $21 a month.

LEBANON —(AP)— The body of Thomas Ryan, 66, was recovered from the Little Miami river yesterday. He apparently fell through a hole which a falling branch made in a footbridge during Sunday's windstorm, Coroner H. M. Williacs said.

BRINGS ALERT

Police Order Money Boards, Dice Games From Counters

Mansfield police cracked down today on restaurants, cigar stores and poolrooms, ordering the removal of counter gambling devices but Police Chief Thomas M. Bell said it "was just a routine check-up" and "no drive."

Bell said that he had ordered patrolmen to visit the various business places in the city maintaining "money-boards and dice games" and to order their removal. No action was taken on punchboards offering merchandise as prizes.

This is the second time in the last six months that police have visited the business places to warn against the use of the counter gambling devices. Last fall, Police Chief Meade K. Bate, now on leave of absence for F.B.I. service, ordered a similar move.

Chief Bell said that he had issued the order himself and had not been requested by other city officials.

"Some of the proprietors have been 'stepping out of bounds'," said Bell, "and we're just checking up on them."

Mansfield grills and taverns were forced to remove pinball machines and other gambling devices last fall when the state liquor department cracked down on license-holders.

The police have not ordered the discontinuance of pinball machines in the city although other cities in central and northern Ohio have taken action against operators.

Laughs, Chills Combine to Thrill Community Play Crowd

By ESTHER SMITH

The third capacity audience to witness a Mansfield Community Players production this season was treated to a mystery-comedy that combined laughs, surprises and chills last night when the Players wound up their 16th season by presenting "Mr. and Mrs. North," under the direction of Helen Bacon.

Staged at John Simpson auditorium against another of Louis Meisse's sets that have been optical delights at every performance, the Owen Davis play had its action in the smart New York apartment of a modern young couple called "Mr. and Mrs. North."

This likable pair was portrayed by Alvin L. Krieg and Mrs. Jack Berno as soon as the curtain arose and they remained on the scene practically every moment throughout the performance.

Another duo was also on the set during most of the action, this one including Ruhland Isaly in the role of "Weygant," a soft-spoken police lieutenant with a cultural background, and Fred Loykovich as "Mullins," his glib assistant.

These four were faced with solving one mysterious circumstance after another beginning with the moment a dead man tumbled out of the liquor closet right after the Norths returned home from overnight trips in opposite directions. And Mrs. North didn't make things any easier for the lieutenant when she archly indicated that the liquor closet was a

Merchants Open Spring Display Days Tomorrow

With today's balmy weather serving as a reminder that spring is just around the corner, Mansfield merchants were hard at work today setting the stage for the opening tomorrow of the Spring Display Days which will continue through Saturday.

The event is sponsored by the Retail Merchants association, and 50 retailers are participating.

Special window and store displays are being arranged to show the latest in spring and early summer merchandise. Association officials sounded the reminder today that only three weeks remain before Easter.

They urged shoppers to visit stores during the morning hours if possible, pointing out that salespeople are less rushed in those hours and can give more specialized attention in selection of merchandise.

JAP INVASION FLEET MOVING ON AUSTRALIA

RAAF Planes Batter at Ships Sighted Near New Guinea Heading for Port Moresby.

other sectors north of Australia, including Babaul and Gasmata, while the Japanese renewed air attacks on Australian positions on the south coast of New Guinea.

A great Japanese four-motored flying boat was set afire at Gasmata, on New Britain, and two attacks were made on the Salamaua, New Guinea, airdrome and runway.

In addition, an Australian naval pinnace damaged a Japanese plane by machine gun fire, it was asserted.

The Australian Air Force communique reporting the raids was involved and pending clarification, the exact number of enemy ships was not clear.

The attacks were made daringly at low level, it was understood, on Japanese bases all over the invasion zone northeast of the Australian continent.

Salamaua and Lae, on the Gulf of Huon on the north coast of New Guinea, where the Japanese made their first landing on that great island, were attacked heavily. The Australian planes attacked enemy shipping at Hanischhafen, on the north shore of the gulf. They raided a Japanese invasion fleet which had effected new landings at Finschhafen, 35 miles northeast of Hanischhafen on the Dampier strait, around the corner of the gulf.

An air ministry communique disclosed that Japanese planes had made reconnaissance flights yesterday over Darwin, the Australian north coast base, but said the planes had been driven off.

British Swing Line To Central Burma

MANDALAY, Burma—(UP)—British Imperial troops abandoning the entire Irrawaddy river delta to the Japanese, are swinging their defense line slowly northward to take up positions somewhere in South Central Burma where they hope to halt the enemy advance, unofficial reports revealed today.

Reports from Rangoon said that city was left a blazing skeleton and it was indicated that thousands of gallons of gasoline and other oil had been set afire in the harbor to destroy docks, warehouses and boats, completing land destruction previously effected.

Thousands of dollars worth of American lend-lease materials, waiting delivery to China along the Burma road, were reported to have been destroyed by the United States military mission before Rangoon was evacuated.

Army Reports Batan Situation Quiet

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The war department reported today that the situation in Batan, where General Douglas MacArthur faces numerically superior Japanese forces, apparently has been stabilized temporarily, with neither air nor ground activity in the last 24 hours.

The text of the brief communique, No. 142, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., Eastern War time:

"1. Philippine theater:

"The situation in Batan remains unchanged. There was no air or ground activity during the past twenty-four hours.

"The positions occupied by both sides apparently have become temporarily stabilized.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Declares Fighting Rages On In Java

MELBOURNE, Australia—(INS)—Hubertus J. Van Mook, lieutenant governor of the Netherlands East Indies who came to Australia to continue the fight against Japan, declared today that hostilities are still continuing in Java.

"As far as we know," he said, "fighting is continuing west and east of Bandung and also in east Java.

"With regard to the other islands, most of Sumatra is still unoccupied by the Japanese."

Ceylon Next On Invasion List?

LONDON —(INS)— A warning that Japan may soon move on the island of Ceylon off the southeast coast of India was voiced by an authoritative British spokesman today.

"We must contemplate that Japan will attempt to go on to Ceylon in furtherance of her strategy to dominate the Indian ocean completely," the spokesman said.

"Already, with the loss of Singapore, Soerabaja and Rangoon, the Indian ocean is uncovered, since the Japanese main fleet, so far as is known in London, has not been seriously impaired.

"With the Japanese retaining command of the sea and air, they at the moment are able to exploit their successes in whatever direction they choose."

Nazis Predict Japs To Start Ship War

BERLIN (From German broadcasts) — (AP) — The German radio broadcast the prediction today that "Japan undoubtedly will start a cruiser war on shipping into the Indian ocean and try to interrupt the trade routes."

The broadcast pointed out there are "several useful bases" in the Indian ocean, all of them points "destined to play a part in the further development of operations."

Report Demands For Madagascar

STOCKHOLM — (UP) — A Berlin dispatch to the newspaper Social-Demokraten said today that Japan had presented to the Vichy government "certain demands" concerning the French island of Madagascar off the southeast coast of Africa.

The dispatch said that Berlin quarters reported they had no information of Japan's plans but that it was recalled that similar Japanese demands preceded the occupation of French Indo-China.

Japs Claim U. S. Cruiser Sunk

TOKYO—(By Japanese official wireless)—(INS)—Imperial headquarters claimed in a communique today that a Nipponese cruiser formation operating in the Indian ocean west of Australia sank the United States cruiser Marblehead on March 2.

(Editor's note: There has been no confirmation of this Jap claim from any responsible source. Probably the Japanese high command has set forth this assertion in the hope of obtaining information regarding the whereabouts of the Marblehead.)

The communique also claimed a destroyer sank the Dutch mine sweeper Jan Van Amstel between Java and Bali on March 9.

PORT CLINTON — (U.P.) — Fire early today destroyed the Beach Bar Night club at Asher's beach on route 2, with a loss estimated at $5,000.

COUNCIL OK'S CURFEW ON GAS

Passes Measure Regulating Hours of Service Stations; Waits Mayor's Signature.

ment to obtain gasoline during the curfew hours.

Bart Haley, a member of the association committee, said that an amendment would be proposed in the near future allowing motorists to purchase gasoline in the evening without police permission.

City Solicitor L. K. Wagner told council that although the ordinance could be voted on that there would still be a question of its constitutionality to be settled.

Wagner said that he understood that some large firms, including the Standard Oil company objected to the curfew and had prepared briefs with arguments against it.

John B. Coleman, division manager of the Standard Oil company, and an opponent of the curfew plan, was reported at his office to be out of the city today, and could not be reached for comment.

If the Standard Oil company wishes to fight the curfew, according to Wagner, it could either keep company-owned stations open in violation of it and allow an arrest which would force a trial in court on the matter or it could get an injunction against the city to prevent it from enforcing the ordinance until it has been settled in court. Wagner said that it would take at least nine months to have the matter settled in the courts.

Standard Oil operates several stations in the city but only three are company-owned. These stations are directly controlled by the company. Other stations are leased to operators and are operated independently.

Wagner also said that there was some question as to whether a gasoline curfew was in the province of the state legislature or the federal government. If either unit took action, it would supersede any local action.

Police Chief Bell, who will be in charge of setting up a schedule of the gasoline stations which would be allowed to remain open said that if the ordinance was signed by the mayor, that he had already selected two stations to remain open during the next month.

Bell said that he had picked the Sohio station at the intersection of Fourth and Mulberry streets and the Cities Service station at 168 Park avenue east. Managers of both stations said today that they had not been contacted.

PORT CLINTON, O. —(U.P.)— Imagine just going to the river and picking up enough fish for a tasty dinner.

Several persons living near the river picked up baskets full of fish before the river level returned to normal several hours later.

Military Note for Deliveries

GIRL IN UNIFORM TAKES PLACE OF MAN ON FLORIST'S TRUCK

The nation's military requirements dealt out a hard blow to a down-town Mansfield floral shop but today a new service, carrying a military theme had grown out of that hardship.

Uncle Sam summoned three of the florist's trained employes to the colors in recent months. The army calls handicapped operations of the shop. New personnel had to be trained. But when delivery truck operations were hit by another draft call the time arrived for something else to be done.

So Florist Charles L. Kafer, 41 North Mulberry street, called in 18-year-old Elaine Sellers, dressed her in a natty, blue-grey uniform and assigned her to a delivery truck and she has been performing just as smartly as her military dress.

She handles the half-ton vehicle like a veteran. Continuing the military theme she clicks her heels and gives a snappy salute as she delivers the flowers to the consignee.

Kafer conceived the idea several months ago but only put the plan into action last Sunday.

He went on to say, that the use of women in civilian work of this nature is something every one will have to do shortly.

The uniform worn by the girl is of military cut and grey blue in color, resembling somewhat those worn by the fliers of the R. A. F. Jauntily perched on her head is an overseas cap to match. Giving dash to the entire outfit is a scarlet boutonniere.

Her delight in her new job and uniform is matched only by that of Kafer who is highly pleased by the enthusiastic comments aroused by her trim appearance.

Remember the time (and not so long ago) when most truck drivers were supposed to answer to the name of "Butch" and be tougher than restaurant steak? Well, my friend, those days are gone for the duration!

place in which they kept "all sorts of things."

Into this milieu came an assortment of characters, the wife of the dead man and some of her friends, policemen, inspectors from headquarters, the postman, a Fuller brush man and an Italian janitor. This group of characters was vital to the solving of the mysterious forces that killed not only one man but two and bound up a third and stuffed him in the liquor closet.

Krieg admirably played the role of "North," a live-wire publisher, who permited himself to watch the police lieutenant's effort just so long and then started pitching himself in an effort to clear up the situation. And his portrayal was consistent whether he was enacting a harassed husband, trying to cope with his wife's seeming inanities, or a practical business man meeting the law on its own ground.

Mrs. Berno gave a delightful interpretation of the apparently rattlebrained "Mrs." North," who despite her aptitude for becoming involved in other people's affairs had some thoroughly workable ideas when it came to uncovering crime.

Isaly made a human and likeable fellow out of "Weygant," the police lieutenant, and carried the difficult and lengthy part in a most convincing fashion. Ferd Loykovich as the lieutenant's assistant extracted every laugh possible out of his comedy role and at one point completely stopped the show.

The remainder of the cast ably filled their respective roles that called for very little action other than that on the part of George Kirtley in the role of "Buono," the Italian janitor. Kirtley also drew his share of the laughs.

Other characters enjoyed by the audience were Jane Bacon as "Claire Brent"; James Eberly, "Louis Berev", Mrs. Alvin L. Krieg, "Jane Wilson", Nicholas White, "Ben Wilson", J. Reynolds Hodgson, "Clinton Edwards", Daniel Reese, a policeman; Lloyd Brown, medical examiner, Paul Bell, postman, A. D. Parker, photographer, Herbert Slough, fingerprinter, Gerald Ruley, Fuller Brush man.

The production marked the 35th play that Mrs. Bacon has directed for the Community Players and it reflected the same type of painstaking work denoted by past performances. Mrs. Bacon has directed a total of 150 different persons during her years with the organization which has been a community asset since its inception 16 years ago.

Meisse, technical director, who was responsible for the fine set, was assisted by Ed Smith and Jack Shafer. Other members of the production staff included: Marion Marshall and Florence Kramer, properties; Herbert Schettler, make-up, and Mrs. Louis Meisse, costumes. Ruhland Isaly is president of the organization and Harvey Bailey business manager. Laurence Todd directed the orchestra supplied by the Mansfield Music association.

IT'S NO FORT

Statehouse May Look Like One But It's Poor Bomb Shelter.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's statehouse may look like an impregnable fortress, but it would be a poor spot to head for in an air raid, a bomb proofing expert asserts.

Prof. J. R. Shank of the Ohio State university engineering department said that despite deep foundations, granite blocks and thick walls, old structures like the statehouse have no "give." The safest spot when bombs start to drop, he asserted, is the middle floors of steel-skeleton skyscrapers.

CITY BOLSTERS GUARD SET-UP AT RESERVOIR

Mayor Takes Action After Expose of Conditions at Water Plant.

watchman at the top of the reservoir.

The reservoir is Mansfield's only storage supply of water for fire protection and home consumption. Destruction of it would leave 10,000 residences, manufacturing plants and business places unprotected in the event of fire.

The reporters found the watchman sitting in a heated shanty with a shotgun wrapped in paper and with paper wads stuffed into the barrel of the gun to prevent snow from getting into it.

The guards have been on duty at the reservoir and Maxwell Springs' station since the attack on Pearl Harbor. Mayor Locke said that he had assumed the initiative in placing the guards as an emergency measure and that he had since received orders from the War department and the state health department to retain the guards for the duration of the war.

Locke said that council had authorized and set up money for the purchase and installation of a wire fence around the reservoir and the Maxwell Springs pumping station but that no money had been appropriated to hire guards.

At present, the guards, who are former employes in the street and water departments, are being paid from waterworks funds. It will be necessary for council to appropriate funds to reimburse the waterworks department for this expense, however, according to the mayor, and he stated that council should make a direct appropriation for the payment of guards.

Locke said that he had instructed Hebel and Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff to have work spurred on the erection of the protective fence and that Hebel had detailed six men to the work yesterday. The fencing has been laying near the reservoir for several weeks.

When council was considering a plan to protect the city water system earlier this year, Locke suggested that a police cruiser be used to maintain a continual patrol of the reservoir, the Maxwell Springs station and the more important pumps. Council, however, took no action on the suggestion.

Locke said he wondered if the News-Journal story "would aid sabotage workers" but admitted that the guards at the reservoir should be more alert now than before as a result of the story being printed.

He wouldn't comment on a suggestion by a reporter that enemy agents probably would have familiarized themselves with conditions at the reservoir without waiting to read it in a newspaper.

Kalbfleisch also said that the story "had awakened the city" to the need for a more rigid protective system for its water supply.

The mayor said that he had conferred with Police Chief Meade K. Bates, now on leave and serving with the FBI, on the training of the guards at the reservoir and that he had understood that the plan had been completed.

Police Chief Bell said that he knew that a cruiser visited the reservoir at intervals during the night but that he had been unaware that a training program for the guards had been requested. He promised that the program would be instituted, however.

The guards have been on duty since early in December but, as was pointed out by the mayor, they have had no training. Three men worked as guards at the reservoir, each taking an eight-hour shift while another guards the Maxwell station during the night.

Seeks FBI Report To Congress on Subversive Acts

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Robert F. Jones (R-Ohio) today called for early hearings on his bill which would require the federal bureau of investigation to report to congress government workers belonging to subversive groups.

Jones sent his request to house Judiciary Committee Chairman Sumners (D-Texas.)

Jones recalled that congress appropriated $100,000 in July, 1941, for an inquiry. The justice department, he added, has adhered to a policy of reporting to department heads instead of congress.

A report by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover shows that data on 269 employes was sent to department heads and 11 were discharged, Jones asserted.

BEAT MACHINE

Anti-Pendergast Candidates Lead In Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY —(U.P.)— Reform candidates defeated the Pendergast Democratic machine's comeback attempt in Kansas City's preliminary municipal election, nearly complete returns showed today.

Democrat John B. Gage, the mayor who went into office in 1940 on a "clean-up" slate and headed the Citizen's Coalition ticket again this year had a clear majority over the combined vote of his two opponents.

A run-off election apparently will not be necessary.

Returns from 410 precincts of 462 gave: Gage, 61,802; John M. Linger, Pendergast machine candidate, 38,579.

The Citizens' Coalition group, composed of Republicans and Democrats, apparently led in at least six of the eight council races and both municipal court races.

What do I do?

—to protect against battery failure?

Car batteries have been known to last 10 years with proper care. The three most important things are: 1. Have fluid level checked regularly (every 2 weeks in winter—every week in summer). 2. Watch ammeter to see that battery is charging at normal rate. 3. Keep terminals from corroding.

All Sohio stations offer expert battery service. Take advantage of it and keep your battery in tip-top shape.

RIVERS, HARBORS BILL ON SHELF

But Committee Will Seek Action After Easter Holidays.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The billion dollar rivers and harbors bill, which would authorize scores of navigation and power developments including the $285,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway and the $200,000,000 Florida ship canal, has been shelved temporarily, but efforts to secure its enactment will be resumed after the Easter holidays.

Chairman Mansfield (D-Tex.) of the house rivers and harbors committee said he had abandoned plans to seek congressional approval of the measure this month "because of the temper of the house." Legislative right of way for the omnibus rivers and harbors bill—biggest in congressional history—will be sought some time in April, he added.

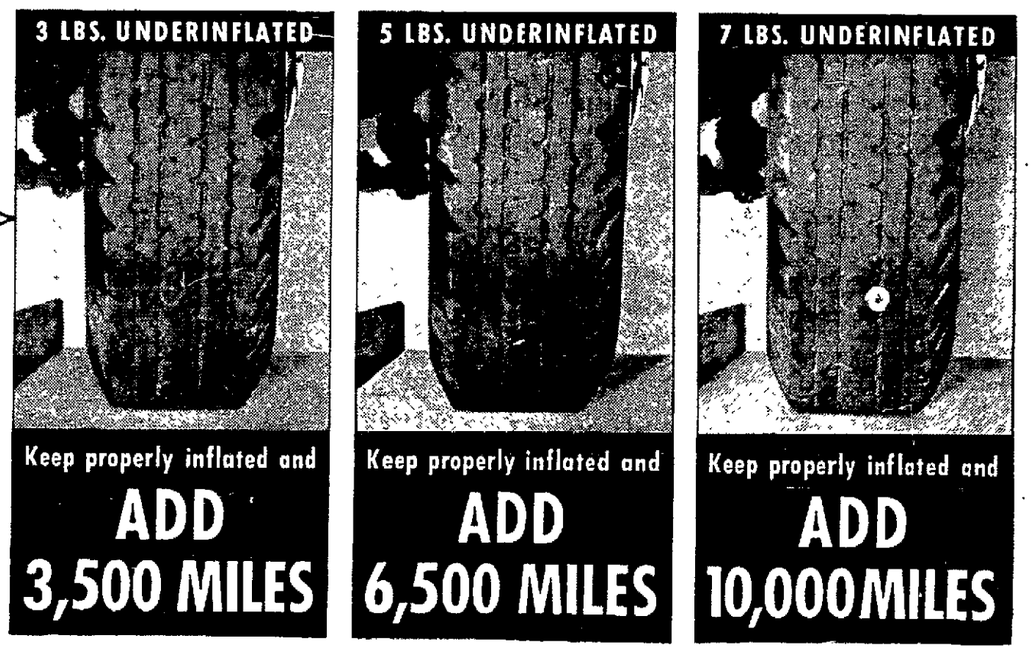
HOW YOU CAN ADD THOUSANDS OF MILES TO A TIRE'S LIFE

Just a few pounds of air... a difference almost invisible to the human eye... might help you double your tire mileage!

If you run your tires too soft—because you can't see the difference—look at the miles you can add!

(Actual photographs of 6.00-16 tire)



Keep properly inflated and ADD 3,500 MILES

Keep properly inflated and ADD 6,500 MILES

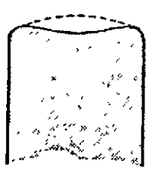
Keep properly inflated and ADD 10,000 MILES

It's easy to avoid damage, gain miles!

UNDERINFLATION does this

"Soft" tires wear extremely fast on the outside of the tread and shoulders. Tire crushes easily, flexes violently, causing destructive heat.

OVERINFLATION does this



Too much air is almost as bad as too little. Overinflation causes excessive wear in center of tread—wastes mileage. Tire bruises more easily.

● Most of us have a great many more miles left in our tires than we realize. Such a simple thing as correct inflation will add thousands of miles to tires which are habitually run too soft. Yet the fact is that only recently 9 of every 10 Ohio cars were running on improperly inflated tires.

Remember—your tires may look all right even though they're down several pounds. So from now on don't take any chances. Have the air pressure checked regularly—every week. Any SOHIO station will gladly do it for you . . . free, of course.

With proper care a set of tires can easily give 40 or 50 thousand miles of service. Many motorists are getting that mileage. And, it's easy to do!

JAP INVASION FLEET MOVING ON AUSTRALIA

RAAF Planes Batter at Ships Sighted Near New Guinea Heading for Port Moresby.

other sectors north of Australia, including Babaul and Gasmata, while the Japanese renewed air attacks on Australian positions on the south coast of New Guinea.

A great Japanese four-motored flying boat was set afire at Gasmata, on New Britain, and two attacks were made on the Salamaua, New Guinea, airdrome and runway.

In addition, an Australian naval pinnace damaged a Japanese plane by machine gun fire, it was asserted.

The Australian Air Force communique reporting the raids was involved and pending clarification, the exact number of enemy ships was not clear.

The attacks were made daringly at low level, it was understood, on Japanese bases all over the invasion zone northeast of the Australian continent.

Salamaua and Lae, on the Gulf of Huon on the north coast of New Guinea, where the Japanese made their first landing on that great island, were attacked heavily. The Australian planes attacked enemy shipping at Hanischhafen, on the north shore of the gulf. They raided a Japanese invasion fleet which had effected new landings at Finschhafen, 35 miles northeast of Hanischhafen on the Dampier strait, around the corner of the gulf.

An air ministry communique disclosed that Japanese planes had made reconnaissance flights yesterday over Darwin, the Australian north coast base, but said the planes had been driven off.

British Swing Line To Central Burma

MANDALAY, Burma—(UP)—British Imperial troops abandoning the entire Irrawaddy river delta to the Japanese, are swinging their defense line slowly northward to take up positions somewhere in South Central Burma where they hope to halt the enemy advance, unofficial reports revealed today.

Reports from Rangoon said that city was left a blazing skeleton and it was indicated that thousands of gallons of gasoline and other oil had been set afire in the harbor to destroy docks, warehouses and boats, completing land destruction previously effected.

Thousands of dollars worth of American lend-lease materials, waiting delivery to China along the Burma road, were reported to have been destroyed by the United States military mission before Rangoon was evacuated.

Army Reports Batan Situation Quiet

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The war department reported today that the situation in Batan, where General Douglas MacArthur faces numerically superior Japanese forces, apparently has been stabilized temporarily, with neither air nor ground activity in the last 24 hours.

The text of the brief communique, No. 142, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., Eastern War time:

"1. Philippine theater:

"The situation in Batan remains unchanged. There was no air or ground activity during the past twenty-four hours.

"The positions occupied by both sides apparently have become temporarily stabilized.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Declares Fighting Rages On In Java

MELBOURNE, Australia—(INS)—Hubertus J Van Mook, lieutenant governor of the Netherlands East Indies, who came to Australia to continue the fight against Japan, declared today that hostilities are still continuing in Java.

"As far as we know," he said "fighting is continuing west and east of Bandung and also in east Java.

"With regard to the other islands, most of Sumatra is still unoccupied by the Japanese."

Ceylon Next On Invasion List?

LONDON —(INS)— A warning that Japan may soon move on the island of Ceylon off the southeast coast of India was voiced by an authoritative British spokesman today.

"We must contemplate that Japan will attempt to go on to Ceylon in furtherance of her strategy to dominate the Indian ocean completely," the spokesman said.

"Already, with the loss of Singapore, Soerabaja and Rangoon, the Indian ocean is uncovered, since the Japanese main fleet, so far as is known in London, has not been seriously impaired.

"With the Japanese retaining command of the sea and air, they at the moment are able to exploit their successes in whatever direction they choose."

Nazis Predict Japs To Start Ship War

BERLIN (From German broadcasts) — (AP) — The German radio broadcast the prediction today that "Japan undoubtedly will start a cruiser war on shipping into the Indian ocean and try to interrupt the trade routes."

The broadcast pointed out there are "several useful bases" in the Indian ocean all of them points "destined to play a part in the further development of operations."

Report Demands For Madagascar

STOCKHOLM — (UP) — A Berlin dispatch to the newspaper Social-Demokraten said today that Japan had presented to the Vichy government "certain demands" concerning the French island of Madagascar off the southeast coast of Africa.

The dispatch said that Berlin quarters reported they had no information of Japan's plans but that it was recalled that similar Japanese demands preceded the occupation of French Indo-China.

Japs Claim U. S. Cruiser Sunk

TOKYO—(By Japanese official wireless)—(INS)—Imperial headquarters claimed in a communique today that a Nipponese cruiser formation operating in the Indian ocean west of Australia sank the United States cruiser Marblehead on March 2.

(Editor's note: There has been no confirmation of this Jap claim from any responsible source. Probably the Japanese high command has set forth this assertion in the hope of obtaining information regarding the whereabouts of the Marblehead.)

The communique also claimed a destroyer sank the Dutch mine sweeper Jan Van Amstel between Java and Bali on March 9.

$5,000 Fire Destroys World War K. of C. Hut.

PORT CLINTON — (U.P.) — Fire early today destroyed the Beach Bar Night club at Asher's beach on route 2, with a loss estimated at $5,000.

The building housing the night club was the old Knights of Columbus Hut at Camp Perry during the first World war. It was moved to Asher's beach later. Its latest owner was William Gabel. The club was operated by William Cullens.

ment to obtain gasoline during the curfew hours.

Bart Haley, a member of the association committee, said that an amendment would be proposed in the near future allowing motorists to purchase gasoline in the evening without police permission.

City Solicitor L. K. Wagner told council that although the ordinance could be voted on that there would still be a question of its constitutionality to be settled.

Wagner said that he understood that some large firms, including the Standard Oil company objected to the curfew and had prepared briefs with arguments against it.

John B. Coleman, division manager of the Standard Oil company, and an opponent of the curfew plan, was reported at his office to be out of the city today, and could not be reached for comment.

If the Standard Oil company wishes to fight the curfew, according to Wagner, it could either keep company-owned stations open in violation of it and allow an arrest which would force a trial in court on the matter or it could get an injunction against the city to prevent it from enforcing the ordinance until it has been settled in court. Wagner said that it would take at least nine months to have the matter settled in the courts.

Standard Oil operates several stations in the city but only three are company-owned. These stations are directly controlled by the company. Other stations are leased to operators and are operated independently.

Wagner also said that there was some question as to whether a gasoline curfew was in the province of the state legislature or the federal government. If either unit took action, it would supersede any local action.

Police Chief Bell, who will be in charge of setting up a schedule of the gasoline stations which would be allowed to remain open said that if the ordinance was signed by the mayor, that he had already selected two stations to remain open during the next month.

Bell said that he had picked the Sohio station at the intersection of Fourth and Mulberry streets and the Cities Service station at 168 Park avenue east. Managers of both stations said today that they had not been contacted.

JUST WALK OUT, PICK UP FISH

Residents Get Easy Catches As Wind Lowers River Level.

PORT CLINTON, O. —(U.P.)— Imagine just going to the river and picking up enough fish for a tasty dinner.

It actually happened when a high wind blew the water out of the Portage river, a mile west of Port Clinton, and the water level dropped five feet below normal. Numerous perch, bullheads and other fish were stranded.

Several persons living near the river picked up baskets full of fish before the river level returned to normal several hours later.

Military Note for Deliveries

GIRL IN UNIFORM TAKES PLACE OF MAN ON FLORIST'S TRUCK

The nation's military requirements dealt out a hard blow to a down-town Mansfield floral shop but today a new service, carrying a military theme had grown out of that hardship.

Uncle Sam summoned three of the florist's trained employes to the colors in recent months. The army calls handicapped operations of the shop. New personnel had to be trained. But when delivery truck operations were hit by another draft call the time arrived for something else to be done.

So Florist Charles L. Kafer, 41 North Mulberry street, called in 18-year-old Elaine Sellers, dressed her in a natty, blue-grey uniform and assigned her to a delivery truck and she has been performing just as smartly as her military dress.

She handles the half-ton vehicle like a veteran. Continuing the military theme she clicks her heels and gives a snappy salute as she delivers the flowers to the consignee.

Kafer conceived the idea several months ago but only put the plan into action last Sunday.

He went on to say, that the use of women in civilian work of this nature is something every one will have to do shortly.

The uniform worn by the girl is of military cut and grey blue in color, resembling somewhat those worn by the fliers of the R. A. F. Jauntily perched on her head is an overseas cap to match. Giving dash to the entire outfit is a scarlet boutonniere.

Her delight in her new job and uniform is matched only by that of Kafer who is highly pleased by the enthusiastic comments aroused by her trim appearance.

Remember the-time (and not so long ago) when most truck drivers were supposed to answer to the name of "Butch" and be tougher than restaurant steak? Well, my friend, those days are gone for the duration!

Laughs, Chills Combine to Thrill Community Play Crowd

place in which they kept "all sorts of things."

Into this milieu came an assortment of characters, the wife of the dead man and some of her friends, policemen, inspectors from headquarters, the postman, a Fuller brush man and an Italian janitor. This group of characters was vital to the solving of the mysterious forces that killed not only one man but two and bound up a third and stuffed him in the liquor closet.

Krieg admirably played the role of "North," a live-wire publisher, who permited himself to watch the police lieutenant's effort just so long and then started pitching himself in an effort to clear up the situation. And his portrayal was consistent whether he was enacting a harassed husband, trying to cope with his wife's seeming inanities, or a practical business man meeting the law on its own ground.

Mrs. Berno gave a delightful interpretation of the apparently rattlebrained "Mrs." North," who despite her aptitude for becoming involved in other people's affairs had some thoroughly workable ideas when it came to uncovering crime.

Isaly made a human and likeable fellow out of "Weygant," the police lieutenant, and carried the difficult and lengthy part in a most convincing fashion. Ferd Loykovich as the lieutenant's assistant extracted every laugh possible out of his comedy role and at one point completely stopped the show.

The remainder of the cast ably filled their respective roles that called for very little action other than that on the part of George Kirtley in the role of "Buono," the Italian janitor. Kirtley also drew his share of the laughs.

Other characters enjoyed by the audience were Jane Bacon as "Claire Brent"; James Eberly, "Louis Berex", Mrs. Alvin L. Krieg, "Jane Wilson", Nicholas White, "Ben Wilson", J. Reynolds Hodgson, "Clinton Edwards", Daniel Reese, a policeman; Lloyd Brown, medical examiner; Paul Bell, postman; A. D. Parker, photographer; Herbert Slough, fingerprinter; Gerald Ruley, Fuller Brush man.

The production marked the 35th play that Mrs. Bacon has directed for the Community Players and it reflected the same type of painstaking work denoted by past performances. Mrs. Bacon has directed a total of 150 different persons during her years with the organization which has been a community asset since its inception 16 years ago.

Meisse, technical director, who was responsible for the fine set, was assisted by Ed Smith and Jack Shafer. Other members of the production staff included: Marion Marshall and Florence Kramer, properties; Herbert Schettler, make-up, and Mrs. Louis Meisse, costumes. Ruhland Isaly is president of the organization and Harvey Bailey business manager. Laurence Todd directed the orchestra supplied by the Mansfield Music association.

Statehouse May Look Like One But It's Poor Bomb Shelter.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's statehouse may look like an impregnable fortress, but it would be a poor spot to head for in an air raid, a bomb proofing expert asserts.

Prof. J. R. Shank of the Ohio State university engineering department said that despite deep foundations, granite blocks and thick walls, old structures like the statehouse have no "give." The safest spot when bombs start to drop, he asserted, is the middle floors of steel-skeleton skyscrapers.

CITY BOLSTERS GUARD SET-UP AT RESERVOIR

Mayor Takes Action After Expose of Conditions at Water Plant.

watchman at the top of the reservoir.

The reservoir is Mansfield's only storage supply of water for fire protection and home consumption. Destruction of it would leave 10,000 residences, manufacturing plants and business places unprotected in the event of fire.

The reporters found the watchman sitting in a heated shanty with a shotgun wrapped in paper and with paper wads stuffed into the barrel of the gun to prevent snow from getting into it.

The guards have been on duty at the reservoir and Maxwell Springs' station since the attack on Pearl Harbor. Mayor Locke said that he had assumed the initiative in placing the guards as an emergency measure and that he had since received orders from the War department and the state health department to retain the guards for the duration of the war.

Locke said that council had authorized and set up money for the purchase and installation of a wire fence around the reservoir and the Maxwell Springs pumping station but that no money had been appropriated to hire guards.

At present, the guards, who are former employes in the street and water departments, are being paid from waterworks funds. It will be necessary for council to appropriate funds to reimburse the waterworks department for this expense, however, according to the mayor, and he stated that council should make a direct appropriation for the payment of guards.

Locke said that he had instructed Hebel and Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff to have work spurred on the erection of the protective fence and that Hebel had detailed six men to the work yesterday. The fencing has been laying near the reservoir for several weeks.

When council was considering a plan to protect the city water system earlier this year, Locke suggested that a police cruiser be used to maintain a continual patrol of the reservoir, the Maxwell Springs station and the more important pumps. Council, however, took no action on the suggestion.

Locke said he wondered if the News-Journal story "would aid sabotage workers" but admitted that the guards at the reservoir should be more alert now than before as a result of the story being printed.

He wouldn't comment on a suggestion by a reporter that enemy agents probably would have familiarized themselves with conditions at the reservoir without waiting to read it in a newspaper.

Kalbfleisch also said that the story "had awakened the city" to the need for a more rigid protective system for its water supply.

The mayor said that he had conferred with Police Chief Meade K. Bates, now on leave and serving with the FBI, on the training of the guards at the reservoir and that he had understood that the plan had been completed

Police Chief Bell said that he knew that a cruiser visited the reservoir at intervals during the night but that he had been unaware that a training program for the guards had been requested. He promised that the program would be instituted, however.

The guards have been on duty since early in December but, as was pointed out by the mayor, they have had no training. Three men worked as guards at the reservoir, each taking an eight-hour shift while another guards the Maxwell station during the night.

Seeks FBI Report To Congress on Subversive Acts

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Robert F. Jones (R-Ohio) today called for early hearings on his bill which would require the federal bureau of investigation to report to congress government workers belonging to subversive groups.

Jones sent his request to house Judiciary Committee Chairman Sumners (D-Texas.)

Jones recalled that congress appropriated $100,000 in July, 1941, for an inquiry. The justice department, he added, has adhered to a policy of reporting to department heads instead of congress.

A report by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover shows that data on 269 employes was sent to department heads and 11 were discharged, Jones asserted.

BEAT MACHINE

Anti-Pendergast Candidates Lead In Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY —(U.P.)— Reform candidates defeated the Pendergast Democratic machine's comeback attempt in Kansas City's preliminary municipal election, nearly complete returns showed today.

Democrat John B. Gage, the mayor who went into office in 1940 on a "clean-up" slate and headed the Citizen's Coalition ticket again this year had a clear majority over the combined vote of his two opponents.

A run-off election apparently will not be necessary.

Returns from 410 precincts of 462 gave: Gage, 61,802; John M. Linger, Pendergast machine candidate, 38,579.

The Citizens' Coalition group, composed of Republicans and Democrats, apparently led in at least six of the eight council races and both municipal court races.

He was in command of a coast guard cutter which, in 1933, was dispatched to search for Jimmy Mattern, round-the-world flier lost in Siberia.

Car batteries have been known to last 10 years with proper care. The three most important things are: 1. Have fluid level checked regularly (every 2 weeks in winter—every week in summer). 2. Watch ammeter to see that battery is charging at normal rate. 3. Keep terminals from corroding.

RIVERS, HARBORS BILL ON SHELF

But Committee Will Seek Action After Easter Holidays.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The billion dollar rivers and harbors bill, which would authorize scores of navigation and power developments including the $285,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway and the $200,000,000 Florida ship canal, has been shelved temporarily, but efforts to secure its enactment will be resumed after the Easter holidays.

Chairman Mansfield (D-Tex.) of the house rivers and harbors committee said he had abandoned plans to seek congressional approval of the measure this month "because of the temper of the house." Legislative right of way for the omnibus rivers and harbors bill—biggest in congressional history—will be sought some time in April, he added.

REVENUE DROPS

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The sharp decline in automobile sales accounted for a 15 per cent drop in state sales tax revenues during the last week of February compared with the same week in 1941, the state treasurer reported today.

Receipts from all sales in the week ended Feb. 28 totaled $942,873, a decrease of $165,226 from the same period last year. Revenue from automobile sales plummeted from $250,037 to $72,360 this year.

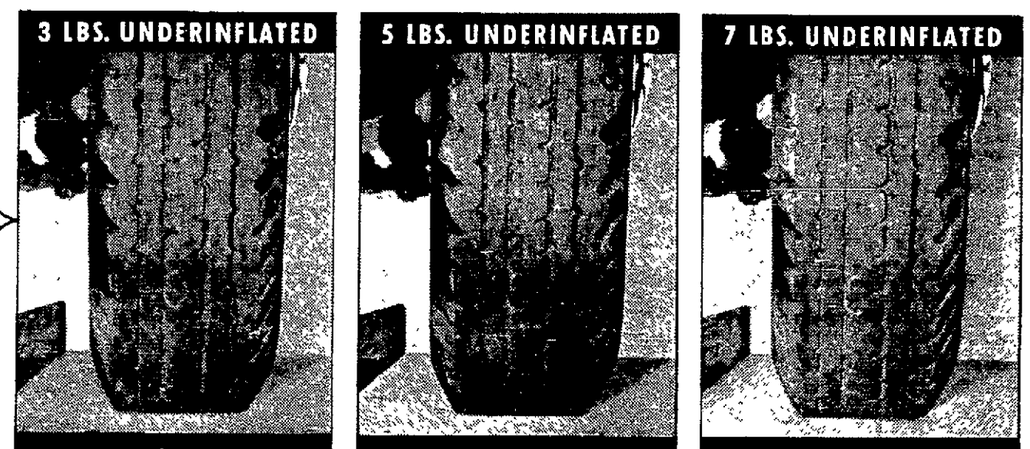
HOW YOU CAN ADD THOUSANDS OF MILES TO A TIRE'S LIFE

Just a few pounds of air... a difference almost invisible to the human eye... might help you double your tire mileage!

If you run your tires too soft—because you can't see the difference—look at the miles you can add!

(Actual photographs of 6.00-16 tire)



Keep properly inflated and ADD 3,500 MILES

Keep properly inflated and ADD 6,500 MILES

Keep properly inflated and ADD 10,000 MILES

It's easy to avoid damage, gain miles!

UNDERINFLATION does this

"Soft" tires wear extremely fast on the outside of the tread and shoulders. Tire crushes easily, flexes violently, causing destructive heat.

OVERINFLATION does this

Too much air is almost as bad as too little. Overinflation causes excessive wear in center of tread—wastes mileage. Tire bruises more easily.

● Most of us have a great many more miles left in our tires than we realize. Such a simple thing as correct inflation will add thousands of miles to tires which are habitually run too soft. Yet the fact is that only recently 9 of every 10 Ohio cars were running on improperly inflated tires.

Remember—your tires may look all right even though they're down several pounds. So from now on don't take any chances. Have the air pressure checked regularly—every week. Any SOHIO station will gladly do it for you . . . free, of course.

With proper care a set of tires can easily give 40 or 50 thousand miles of service. Many motorists are getting that mileage. And, it's easy to do!

City's Unguarded Water Supply

DISCLOSURE that Mansfield's water supply sources remain unguarded, despite emergency action by city council to provide for immediate reasonable precautions, serves as a local example of the unjustified confidence of many people in the United States that "it can't happen here"—or at least that it won't happen soon.

Possibly not—and there is no occasion for undue worry over what MIGHT happen—but it can scarcely be doubted that the elaborate network of Axis subversion extends as efficiently into this and other small cities and communities as it does into the larger centers of population and it is no more than a matter of common sense to take such precautionary steps as are practicable, without waste of time.

Weeks before the Normandie was destroyed by fire a reporter for the New York newspaper, PM, discovered the unguarded condition of that great ship, and the ease with which sabotage could be committed, but the story was not printed, officials paid no attention to the warning, and the Normandie was lost. Enemy agents knew of conditions on the Normandie—it was only the public that was kept uninformed. Had the public known there might have been some action which would have prevented the catastrophe. A lesson should be learned from that unfortunate occurrence.

Prompt action by Mayor Locke in stationing a guard at Woodland reservoir and at the Maxwell Springs pumping station shortly after the Pearl Harbor attack was in accord with recognition of danger at those points, but day by day "watching," while nothing is happening, can quickly develop into a routine task to which little attention is paid—as was the case last December 7 in Hawaii.

Explanation that unfavorable weather conditions have delayed erection of wire fences around the reservoir, and other water supply sources, is usually accepted as a satisfactory peacetime excuse for inaction but it is far from satisfactory in wartime, when anything as vitally important as a city's water supply is involved.

Indignant denials have frequently been made to charges of complacency on the part of many American people, but if the lethargic approach of Mansfielders toward effective organization for civilian defense reflects the attitude being taken in other parts of the country, with the exception of east and west coastal areas, the charges seem better founded than is good for national security or local safety.

Much of the slowness in carrying through civilian defense plans in local communities is attributed to the national and state confusion in OCD work, with public confidence lessened by the introduction of amusement, entertainment and sports activities into what a great majority of people have considered the serious business of guarding against sabotage and enemy attack.

The extent of complacency among American citizens may safely be regarded as no more than a reflection of the attitude being taken by a politically-minded legislative and administrative leadership in Washington and until greater efficiency and less politics flows from that source it will be difficult for many people to realize the actual seriousness of the present situation.

Income Tax Deadline Near

MANY Mansfield and Richland county residents are among the 6,000,000 Americans who are making income tax reports this year for the first time and it is gratifying to note the comment of Deputy Charles S. Mosey, "I have yet to hear the first genuine kick from anyone about the amount of the tax."

Those who have not yet filed reports have the remaining days of this week—and through next Monday—to do so, an extra day being given because of March 15 falling on Sunday.

It is also announced that the internal revenue office in the federal building, corner West Fourth and Mulberry streets, will be kept open all day Sunday, for the convenience of persons who do not have opportunity to make their report on week-days.

While it is possible for income taxpayers to divide their payments into four quarterly installments, with only a fourth of the total required by the March 16 deadline, a letter from Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau directs attention to the advantage of taxpayers meeting their liabilities as early as possible this year, so that the money may be available to help pay war costs.

There is also the thought that payments now being made are taxes on last year's income, and with large tax increases in prospect on this year's income, it is none too soon to start budgeting to meet that obligation.

It is asked that income taxes be paid "promptly and cheerfully"—but it is only the "promptly" that is insisted upon.

Girls Studying Auto Mechanism

EDUCATION in these times broadens and grows more practical. Colleges no longer feel obliged to stick to "academic" work. Getting through the war comes to be as important as getting through the text books.

So college girls are found taking courses in elementary motor mechanics and sound driving practice, and many who have been driving by luck or instinct are learning how an automobile really works, how to save gas and oil, change tires, clean spark plugs, and so on.

Girls are demonstrating again, as they did in the last war, that they can develop into good mechanics when they put their minds on it. And if they learn such things by studious effort, instead of absorbing mechanical knowledge by instinct, as boys are inclined to do, it comes to about the same thing in the end. Thousands of girls will soon be putting kid brother in his place, with more accurate knowledge, and also graciously instructing mother as to what makes the bus go.

Those long, pointed fingernails which some otherwise sensible women have affected are to be added to the sacrifices of war. They don't fit in with war work, a beauty expert advises.

Amateur poetry should be regarded as a sacred thing which should not be permitted to pass beyond the family circle.

In their more pessimistic moments it is not unlikely that the Chinese regret having ever invented gunpowder.

Don't be surprised if there's a post-war effort to popularize the Joe Stalin brand of smoking tobacco.

It isn't the vests that will be so much missed—it's the pockets.

DARWIN IN REVERSE

Delay Kimmel and Short Trials

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — —There are three violently clashing opinions about the timing of the court martials of the army and navy commanders held responsible for the Pearl Harbor debacle.

The most generally held is that the trials of Major General Walter C. Short and Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel should be postponed until after the war.

The second is that it would be cruel to the officers and their families to keep them under such a cloud—considering possibly that a court martial might hold them guiltless—for what may be a very long period.

The third is a combination of the motives actuating both the other groups, and would provide for a secret court martial, so that the defense would be able to present all sorts of testimony, or argument, which for strategic reasons should not be made public.

The last was proposed primarily to meet the objection that it is unfair to the officers to make them wait for vindication, assuming that vindication is possible.

FRIENDS of the officers are doing plenty of talking, privately in Washington. One of the most recent talking points is given color by an interesting difference in appraising the RESULTS of Pearl Harbor by Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt.

In his defense of his own conduct of the war, it will be recalled, Churchill laid a great deal of the responsibility for the fall of Hongkong and Singapore on Pearl Harbor. He mentioned also, of course, the loss of the Prince of Wales and Repulse, and left the clear implication that if it had not been for those two disasters, both of which, air-minded critics allege, are directly due to the conviction of so many admirals that airplanes could not sink battleships, the whole story of the Southwest Pacific operations might have been very different.

In his fireside chat on Feb. 23 the president was quite definite in stating that even if there had been no Pearl Harbor attack the difficulties in reinforcing General MacArthur and of aiding the Dutch and British in that section of the world would still be great, and would remain so for some little time to come.

Friends of the two commanders under attack are vitally interested in this view of the president. They are saying privately, that the real fault lies with Washington in not informing the general and the admiral at Hawaii of the ultimatum-like note which had been sent to Japan late in November. Had the general and admiral been aware of the text of that note, friends of the two officers say, they would have been sure an attack was coming, and they would have taken the same precautions which Admiral Hart and General MacArthur took in the Philippines. The same, incidentally, that the Dutch took in the East Indies.

THERE would have been on interval when nobody was supposed to be at the listening devices, and such a report as that made by the young private who heard the planes and reported them would have startled both army and navy into readiness which might have cost the Japs dearly.

Now that may or may not be a good defense for the two officers facing court martial. But obviously this is no time to put the president of the United States on trial in a public court martial, and that is precisely what such a line of defense would do.

HERE'S a story I picked up after the theater last night. It seemed incredible, I'll admit—but so did Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7.

The story is this: A representative of Franco's Spanish government in New York is on record as saying that Spain will become an ally of the United States and Great Britain in the war against Germany and Italy within 60 days. . . . This man is known to be pro-Axis. He bitterly resents what he described as "Franco's decision." . . . His reasons for the allegedly contemplated move are based on the powerful influence of South America's anti-Axis sentiment. South Americans mostly are Spanish speaking people. This man also points to the "bill" Mussolini sent Franco "for services rendered" after the Spanish Civil war. He thinks Franco is crazy to throw in his lot with the British and Americans, whom he despises, but says nothing can dissuade him.

Well, we'll see. It seems incredible. But, as you'll admit, so did Pearl Harbor.

Scramble to Rule Makes Mess Of War Labor Administration

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Some time has passed since the president finally centralized U. S. war industry in a single executive, but the problem of war labor administration is still an unsolved mess.

One great trouble is that supervision of this vital field is divided among a number of officials, each jealous of the others and all scrambling to be top dog.

Chief scramblers are Secretary Frances Perkins, whose record is one of the sourest botches in the administration and whose retention in the cabinet is one of the great mysteries of Washington; Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt, restless and ambitious for a big-place war job; Sidney Hillman, ex-OPM boss and head of the labor division of the War Production Board.

Also in the tangled picture is War Production Chief Donald Nelson, who insists that war labor administration be under his control. And then there are the AFL and CIO, who want to get their hands on control, so they have cooked up the strategy of demanding that war labor be put in the labor department where they rule the roost.

However, Nelson and Hillman who see eye-to-eye, plan to establish a Man Power agency under Nelson, which would have supervision over all problems of labor relating to war production except the Labor board. This plan, approved at a closed-door session of the War Production board last week, is being formally submitted to the president now.

This will put squarely up to him the choice between Nelson-Hillman and the political scheme demanded by the AFL-CIO with the secret backing of Miss Perkins.

AFL-CIO Politics.

ON the surface, AFL-CIO moguls are united in advocating that war labor administration be placed in the labor department—from which it was once taken because Miss Perkins' genius for bungling. But privately they differ on who is to be the ultimate boss.

Certain CIOers are quietly pushing Dr. John R. Steelman, head of the U. S. Labor Conciliation Service, to replace Miss Perkins as secretary of labor. Steelman is a good friend of John L. Lewis, who owes his closed-shop victory in the captive mines to Steelman.

AFL men, on the other hand, are backing Assistant Labor Secretary Dan Tracy, former head of the AFL electrical workers.

The inner administration word is that while Roosevelt finally has decided to accept Miss Perkins' long overdue resignation, he insists that some other good-paying job be found for the lady.

So the directorship of the International Labor office has been suggested for Miss Perkins. It pays $18,000 a year; $3,000 more than her present salary. But when foreign members of the labor office were queried, here was the reply of one:

"I don't see why an organization dedicated to the mission of promoting international labor cooperation, should become the dumping ground of an unwanted American political appointee—and a not very competent one at that."

Note: Undercover hand that put over the appointment of L. Metcalfe Walling, Young Rhode Island socialite, as wage-hour administrator was Lee Pressman, leftwing general counsel of the CIO and close intimate of John L. Lewis. Walling was Miss Perkins' choice but she was unable to get anywhere until Pressman prevailed on CIO president Phil Murray to endorse Walling.

Churchill on "Courting."

OFFICIALS of the British Supply Council are still chuckling over an unrecorded incident of Winston Churchill's visit to Canada.

There is a deep plush rug in the Government House at Ottawa, famous for generating static electricity in the human body, so much so that sparks are sometimes visible when two persons shake hands. The phenomenon fascinated the British prime minister.

"I've never seen anything like it before," he told a naval aide. "We don't have such phenomena in London."

While the officer was explaining that the human sparks were partly due to Canada's cold, dry climate, the attractive young wife of a government official trotted up and introduced herself. As they shook hands, the prime minister felt a sharp shock. Wheeling, he asked the officer!

"I say, doesn't this sort of thing make courting rather difficult in Canada?"

KEEP an eye on Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, for the directorship of the proposed Women's Auxiliary Corps. Ruth, who was once Roosevelt's minister to Denmark, spent several years as a nurse in Egypt during the last war, later was secretary of the American Women's War Relief Fund. . . . Miss Warren Lee Pierson, wife of the Export-Import Bank director, has written a new mystery novel on Washington, "The Defense Rests." . . . Thanks to lower rates and careful efficiency, the railroads have been doing a bang-up job of rushing oil and gasoline to the East Coast since the tanker sinkings. . . . Biggest waster of paper in Washing is the Dutch propaganda service, more garrulous in deluging newsmen with expensively printed handouts than any other publicity shop. . . . Everyone is 100% behind the Dutch, regardless of the handouts. . . . Harold Tittmann, U. S. diplomat attached to the Vatican, is almost a prisoner. His relations with the Vatican are excellent, but since the Vatican is entirely surrounded by Italy, with which we are at war, he cannot get out. . . . Rarest autographed modern book is a copy of "Into Battle" by Winston Churchill, which bears the autographs of both Churchill and Roosevelt. Walter Winchell is auctioning it off for the benefit of Navy Relief.

Who Defeated France?

PIERRE COT, former air minister in the Blum cabinet, is living in exile in Washington. If he returned to France, he would be killed. Of the Rion trial of his colleagues, Cot says:

"The trial is a mockery. These men have already been condemned to life imprisonment. Petain condemned them last November. Their only hope is the liberation of France. The trial was designed to place responsibility for defeat on the Popular Front. Instead, it is being transformed into an accusation of Petain himself.

"Throughout the changing governments of France, Petain is the only man who has remained in constant authority in recent years. He made no protest against policies of the Popular Front. In fact, he once actually vetoed a proposal for increased defense.

"In December, 1936, I presented a plan for an enlarged air force, but the permanent committee for national defense, of which Petain was the head, rejected the proposal.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It's hard to say which Washington lacks most—office help, or room for the office help to live.

The civil service commission has taken steps toward meeting both shortages. On the one hand, for the duration of the war it has let down some of the bars regulating appointment to civil service jobs. On the other, it has virtually suspended the state quota system, under which civil service appointments were portioned out among the states according to population.

Suspending the state quota system means that while the war lasts the government can draw on qualified workers who live within commuting distance in Maryland and Virginia.

THE civil service commission, proceeding under White House authorization, has suspended the quota system as it applies to jobs which pay less than $1,440 a year to start and higher-paid jobs which couldn't be filled otherwise. This would cover about 90 per cent of the federal appointments in Washington and in the nation at large. The new rulings, of course, apply to federal employes everywhere.

Here is a brief of the new temporary procedure to go into operation March 16:

1. For positions for which competitive examinations usually are held, the commission will accept as many applications as it figures there will be jobs to fill, with a little lee-way.

2. Applicants will be examined in the order in which they applied.

3. Those taking the examination will be classified as "eligible" or "ineligible" instead of being numbered according to their grade.

4. The commission may go outside the "eligible" list to recruit higher types of personnel for certain positions.

THIS procedure is intended only to relieve the war-time shortage of civil servants. Such appointments will be good only until six months after the end of the war, and employes serving under "war service appointments" won't be given full civil service status. Maximum age limits are being lifted except in special cases.

The president's order also directed a cut in red tape of supplying and transferring workers to war-important agencies. To this end, the commission has set itself up as central clearing house and recruiting agency for all offices under civil service. (Exceptions are FBI, TVA, WPA, NYA, and Farm Security Administration.)

Altogether the commission expects to recruit about 100,000 persons a month for the country as a whole during 1942 and 1943. About 60 per cent of these will be additions to the federal payrolls, the rest replacements. Federal employment is expected to hit 2,000,000 by midsummer.

A Farmer's Diary

Movers

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUR NEIGHBORS moved today from the old white house on the bank near the gravel pit. The March lion roared, but the blustering swirls of snow did not stop the processional of rumbling wagon wheels along the valley road.

For more than a week they have been hauling tools—hauling corn, hauling hay and feed. Great ladder wagons were loaded high and wide, so that the big gray and bay mule, hitched together to form a team, looked small in front of the monstrous rippling load of clean bright hay. The drivers, though tall men, seemed diminutive as they stood near the tall front upright and drove. At nearly nightfall, the empty wagons came rolling, hurrying home. I heard the rattle over the gravel road for a half mile off.

Now the household goods too has gone. Beyond our barn, the trucks loaded with stoves, tables, chairs, mirrors, bedding and laundering tools became misty shadows lost in the swooping March snow squall. Shortly afterward, the old family car, loaded with the most precious things. Now the empty house at the bend of the road awaits a new tenant.

Three years this neat, hard working family of parents and seven comely children has lived in our community. We'll miss them. Their boys and girls have played with ours—romped in the barn, enjoyed games of spy and tag and endless innings of ball. Games of hide and seek in summer dusk, and bonfires afterward, were lovely incidents.

For their part, no wagon can take along the murmuring pines and spruces of Greenwood hill. They will miss the trinkling flow of Honey Creek and the ever constant music of the Clearfork. They will remember throughout life the pasture swimming hole, the soft green meadows, the wooded hills, the great gravel pit where such interesting specimens of stone, and so many kinds of clay can be found.

They are one family among thousands to move this month—all over the countryside wagon wheels are rolling. Farm tenants, influenced by national needs and by hope of better prospects, are seeking new fields of labor.

The kind of neighborhoods they find, will be pretty much the kind they take along.

course you are wondering how this can be. It's really very interesting. You see, we're the people who make those thrifty "SELF-DEFENSE" loans, and they are quite different from all others. The big difference is that for the first three months there are no interest charges or costs of any kind. This gives you three full months to repay all, or any portion of the principle, without a penny cost.

INTEREST

in this new plan has brought many people to our office. They get whatever amount they need, from $100 to $1000, and repay it monthly, according to their budget. There is never any cost the first three months, and after that, only our standard interest rate applies . . . with liberal discounts for prompt payments. Ask for a "SELF-DEFENSE" loan when you require extra cash for personal needs.

MRS. GIFFORD HOSTESS TO MANSFIELD SOROSIS

Program at Women's Club Consists of Papers on "Our Neighbors to the South" and "Scholarship."

WHEN 21 members of Mansfield Sorosis met last evening at the Women's Club with Mrs. W. H. Gifford as hostess. guests were Mrs. George Stevens and Mrs. W. W. Mickey. Mrs. Stevens spoke on the importance of purchasing defense bonds and stamps. Business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. S. D. Hoover.

In her interesting and informative paper on "Our Neighbors to the South," Miss Bertha Patterson traced the historical backgrounds of North and South America. She said that the wide difference in background had its effect upon the present differences in the two continents. Miss Patterson contrasted the attitudes in North and South America toward work, women's status and business.

She stated that North Americans are "alert, blunt and frank," whereas South Americans are "leisurely, smooth and courteous." The different independent countries in the South differ greatly due to their varied commercial interests which make some countries rich, others poor.

Seven of the South American nations are democracies. The remainder have dictatorships, but the trend is toward democracy, Miss Patterson said. She explained that of the one hunderd and twenty million inhabitants, 25 million are white, 15 million are negro and 63 millions are of mixed nationality. The instability in those countries is due, to a large extent, to the high percentage of mixed people.

Miss Patterson spoke also of the importance of South American war products to North America and said that ignorance is a great cause of the lack of understanding between the two continents, but that friendship is near realization today.

Mrs. Lawrence Grabler's topic for an interesting talk was "Pan-American Scholarship." She told the Sorosis group that the Ohio State Federation of Women was the first organization to create a Pan-American scholarship. The object was and is to foster better understanding. An annual award of $800 is given to a girl from a Lation American country. Between 1930 and 1942 seven girls have come to the United States on these scholarships. Mrs. Grabler read a letter from one of the Latin American girls, expressing gratitude for the opportunity which the scholorship presented.

Members responded to roll call with a discussion of "Neighborliness." Hostess for the afternoon meeting to be held at the Women's Club on March 24 will be Mrs. Earle Paxton. Miss Bertha Ruess will speak on "Our Magazines" and Miss Anna Proctor will discuss "Our Buckeye Magazine."

Flaws In The Beauty Ointment

By MME. QUI VIVE

When you are in a restaurant waiting to be served, take a bird's-eye view of the sisters who are present Look them over carefully, observe what's wrong with them. That habit will save you from making errors of deportment and dress.

You will see the girl who coils her feet around the legs of the chair, taking on ugly poses, no matter how trim her feet and ankles may be. She's tense and jittery. She does not know that poise is the requirement of a lady, that getting fussed doesn't get her anywhere.

There's the girl who will not sit up straight. Her back is bowed, shoulders thrown forward, a habit that reveals collar bones and depletes the muscles of the chest. She will have a prematurely aged figure. And that manner of sitting is plain sloppy. No self-respecting girl will look like that. An erect backbone is the secret of good carriage and a chic silhouette.

The girl who lets herself go lumpy is usually the same one who assumes a vapid facial expression. One should be aware of appearance at all times, look alive and alert.

You will see women who are smartly dressed in the simplest modes; they are a treat to the eye. You will see others who are overdressed, wearing too many ornaments, sporting millinery that is much too elaborate for careening around the big town during the day. The lady of fashion dresses suitably for the occasion; that's how she gets her reputation as an expert clothes carrier.

We'll have to mention the sweet young thing who, as she is about to depart, brings out the whole makeup kit seemingly, powders her nose, highlights her lips, swishes a small comb through her hair. Combing the hair at the table is something that just isn't done. There should be a law.

There's always a lady's room where one can doll up. No excuse for table primping.

It's just too bad, but all of us observe flaws before we see good points. It is a fastidious age. It is expected that the average woman should know how to get herself together and how to behave prettily. One defect in appearance, one slip in manner, and the whole structure of attractive personality crumbles and crashes.

What matter the expensive dry goods if the wearer slumps in her chair? Or how smart the hat may be if horrid little whisps of stringy hair peep out from beneath it?

We suggest flaw picking as a means of avoiding mistakes. Keep your eyes peeled. You may gaze upon one of your own failings, reform then and there.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Knowing that Gus, caretaker of the hideaway, was to be one of the men guarding me on my journey in search of Professor Walter Scott Diswell, gave me a distinct lift in spirits. The other men I knew only slightly, but Gus signally and often had proved his loyalty to my father and, because of my father, to me.

Now that we had managed to get away from the hotel without using its entrance, thus eluding any possible spies upon our movements, I felt reasonably certain that the journey in search of Jack Bickett's old college professor—the only man who could interpret the sheet of cuneiform characters in Jack's handwriting now hidden in my bag—would be without incident.

I settled back in my seat and relaxed, expecting a few minutes' wait because of the message my father had sent to Gus.

Gus To Be In Charge.

"We won't have to wait long," my father said with intuitive recognition of my thought. "All these men have emergency bags packed, ready to snatch up in a minute's time.

"Good time, Gus," my father said approvingly, as the two entered the car and Gus greeted me with a flattering smile of gratification at his assignment.

"Thank you," Gus answered. Then my father indicated the seat next his own, saying "Sit here." Then he spoke to the other men.

"Gus is to be in charge today, men," he said. "All of you are to do just what Mrs. Graham wishes unless some emergency arises which means danger for her. Then Gus is to take over. Do you understand?"

The men nodded, uttered an emphatic "yes" simultaneously, and then my father spoke to the driver.

Gives Men Orders.

"Angle up so as to strike the East Side drive eventually, but arrange to stop within three or four blocks of the Hotel Lansfield where you were to have met us this morning. Wilkins, you will then come with me. The rest are to stay in the car."

"Shall I start now, sir?" the driver said.

"Please do," my father said, and when we were well under way he motioned Gus and me, on either side of him, to bend our heads close to his.

"My daughter knows exactly what she is to do, Gus," he said in low tones. "You will have to be guided by events. If she sees anything unusual, anything which might involve danger, I am commanding both of you now that you, Gus, are to take over, with the men to help you. And I am commanding you, Gus, to stick close to my daughter. Do not let her out of your sight, except for the time necessary for her to talk alone with the old professor, and then only if you are satisfied that everything around his house is safe. Is that clear?"

"You bet," Gus rejoined enthusiastically. "I stick like glue to Missis Graham. Nothing will happen as long as I am on the job."

Madge In a Panic.

"I know that, Gus," my father said, and no one said anything more until the armored car neared his stopping place. Then my father, with a laconic "Come, Wilkins," bent and kissed me tenderly, murmuring "Be careful, darling!" and followed Wilkins out of the car.

As I saw him standing on the curb, with Wilkins signaling a taxi, I had the maddest impulse to shriek out an appeal to him to come back and accompany me to the mountain home of the old professor.

But a feeling of stark panic had suddenly gripped me so tightly that I could not have uttered a cry to him, even if my pride would have permitted. Without any reason, I infinitely dreaded—and feared — the task my father had given me to do.

When Child Tells Lies Or Steals

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Lying and stealing, like charity, begin at home and many conscientious parents who try hardest to prevent their repetition do most to cause it.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I read your column a lot and have gotten many helpful ideas from it but I have read nothing in your column about preventing children from stealing.

"I have a daughter 7 years old and I have whipped, put to bed, shamed and pleaded with her to no avail. She will take money out of my purse or her father's pockets and she takes little things from among her cousin's playthings. I am wondering what you suggest I do.

"She goes to Sunday school and seems to believe in Jesus and says her prayers regularly without being told. I thought she was cured until about a month ago when I discovered she had taken money from her little brother's bank. She also will tell me little lies if she thinks she can get away with it. I know she is old enough to know better. So if you can help me I would appreciate it very much. I enclose a stamped envelope."

The Doctor's Answer.

I know how hard you have tried to teach your daughter to do right. Yet in your eagerness to do so you have done what most parents do: You have gotten worked up emotionally and tried to make the child confess and then punished her after she did. While with practice you have grown more skillful in questioning her she has grown still more skillful in deceiving you and escaping your detection. You will get nowhere by these methods.

If you were to catch her in the act of stealing something, which is not probable, you should punish her effectively at once. But if you merely suspect she has taken something, don't ask her if she did. To do so would only practice her in lying.

Be Affectionate.

Shield her from undue temptations and help her feel more worth while and secure in the family group. Almost certainly she feels her parents do not love her as much as they love her little brother. Her jealousy, indeed, may be the source of her stealing.

From now on you and dad should show her more affection. Fondle her now and then when alone with her. Be enthusiastic over her achievements. Pay close attention when she tells about her experiences. Attract her playmates to your home.

Lieut. Rothschild left Cleveland last summer and had been on duty at Camp Blanding, Fla., prior to this time.

RECKON THOROUGHLY

Unexpected developments may occur in the play of any hand, making you stop, look and think. If up to that stage you had a well-considered plan, which did not take into account what has just occurred, you are likely to see the whole thing differently in a flash and so may promptly decide to change your methods. But before doing so, please do just a bit more reckoning, of the kind you did at the beginning of play. You may find that the originally-intended move is still the best one.

South let the defenders take the first two diamond tricks, then came in with his A on the third, using the hold-up thus with the idea that he would play the clubs so as to keep West out of the lead later, if he could, and would hope the heart A was not held by West.

To the fourth trick, South laid down the club A, and was startled to see the J fall. Expecting a small card on the trick, he had intended to lead the 3 next and, if West did not come in with the J or Q, play the 10 from dummy and let East win it. But, when he saw the J, he decided East probably had the Q-J doubleton. If so, he could take all five club tricks by playing the K on the second round. So that is what he did. He was both chagrined and beaten when this failed. Even though the heart A was where he wanted it, with East, he had no way to get more than eight tricks—two in spades, three in hearts, one in diamonds and two in clubs.

If South had thought a moment longer, he would have realized the 10 was the right play to the second club trick. If East had the Q, West would have had only three clubs so the rest of the suit could have been run by giving up a trick to it. If however West had it, as he did, the contract would still be safe, as the successful finesse of the 10 would have made the vital ninth trick.

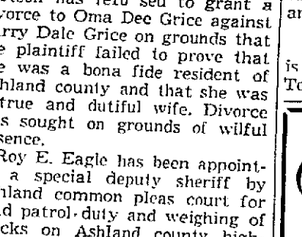
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

How should North and South bid this deal if West overcalls in spades on his first turn and East supports the suit on his next two turns?

CHAPTER XXIV

It was July. Judith had been asleep on a beach. She woke up and looked at small white clouds gaily chase on another across a blue sky. She and Stephen with Katherine and Ralph, now married, had come to the small seaside resort for the week-end. Doubtlessly they had gone back to the hotel to dress for dinner after deciding not to awaken her.

Sitting up, she drew her tanned legs up under her, adjusted the strap of the blue satin bathing suit and shook her hair loose. The scene about her was a typical seashore summer scene—people stretched out full length in the sun, tiny brown children digging ferociously in the sand and filling buckets only to spill out the sand and fill the buckets again; the vivid bathing caps of those in the surf.

July . . . To review the past months, which fortunately would never come again, was to think of a series of pleasant working days and pleasant evenings in Isobel Barth's splendidly managed home or with Katherine and Ralph and Stephen. As in her childhood, no sharp dramas had punctuated the serenity of recent days and nights. As in her childhood, too, there was only the drama in her, though now it was a clearly defined conflict. It was Max—still real and vital and demanding, still a mystery, still loved, despite distance and silence, capable of stirring in her a sharp longing.

It seemed incredible that what had existed only three months had been and was the strongest force of her life. How simple and easy it would be for a bystander to say, "Forget him. How can you be so foolish as to go on caring for a man to whom you were only an amusing side-issue? Forget him." But how could you forget that to which you had given the best of your thoughts and love even though it last only a day?

Emily's letters from the small stone house in Connecticut that she and Tim had bought gave her an inner glow. Emily was very happy. She had been accepted by Tim's parents as the daughter they had always wanted. When was Judith coming up to see them? Judith had written that she would not be the third party in a honeymoon house. Actually she had a dread of New York. Occasionally Emily saw Phyllis, but Judith knew that the reason they did not see each other more frequently was due to Phyllis' indolence rather than to any sense of superiority Emily might feel toward an old friend of her less affluent days.

Knowing that Emily would not question her about Max, Judith had written, "Max is in Venezuela and it isn't likely I shall ever see him again. Most observers would say I had made a great mistake. I disagree with them. It's over and finished and I've been hurt, but perhaps only you of my friends will understand when I say I'm still in love with him."

The small white clouds were still gaily chasing one another across the sky though now mothers and nurse-maids were frantically collecting the tiny brown children and carrying them, kicking and screaming from the beach. The air was cooler and soon another magnificent sunset would color the churning sea. Soon lights would be turned on along the boardwalk; and in the small hotels and cocktail lounges girls who had looked brown and boyish in abbreviated bathing suits by day would look utterly feminine in dancing frocks by night.

Katherine, Ralph and Stephen probably were waiting for her. Stephen . . . Her mouth curved into an amused smile and her eyes softened when she thought of him. For it was tenderness and pride that he inspired in her, as though he were something she had made. She was proud of his rapid progress in his new job and had listened to every phrase of it and every forward step he had taken in it since April. Frequently he apologized for talking about it, but continued to talk, happily forgetting his previous apologies.

Never were their conversations intimate, for rarely had they been alone since he met and liked Ralph and Katherine. A party of four is scarcely conducive to intimate talk. Moreover, Stephen seemed to enjoy Nicholas Barth's company so much that often Judith and her parents and Stephen spent an evening in the Barth home. And yet the fact that she was not the only girl he saw and that he seemed to make a special point of telling her casually about his other "dates" strengthened her growing belief that he was not in love with her and that therefore she could not hurt him. Also both Harriet and Katherine mentioned seeing him with other attractive Clinton girls.

She told herself with not a little amusement that she had flattered herself when she had believed that he cared for her at all to relieve Harriet's anxiety over the situation she had said, "I'm Stephen's listening post. He's never tried to kiss me." And Harriet had remarked, laughing, "I should think you'd be very annoyed not to be kissed. Don't brag about it."

Now the beach was almost deserted and there were shadows on the ocean. Judith picked up her sun glasses and bag and stood up to put her arms into the white beach robe. She thought, "I'll be fresh for a long evening after a nap," when she saw Stephen in a fresh white linen suit step from the boardwalk to the sand and hurry to her. He seemed queer. His eyes had a wild look in them. He wasn't smiling. Usually when he walked toward her and their eyes met, he would smile a little shyly even after all these months.

"Judith!"

"What is it? What."

"My brother! I just had a telephone call . . . My brother Dick's been killed! . . . Plane crash . . . He bought an old crate—" Stephen turned his head away from her, bit his lip and shook his head. "Dick, my kid brother . . . I told him not to buy that old crate, to save up for a better plane. Now . . . My mother . ." When he looked at her again, tears were glistening in his eyes. "I've got to go home at once. Nothing's been taken care of there. They are waiting for me."

Judith put out her hand and touched his arm. "Can I help? Is there anything I can do?"

He hesitated. Then, "You could come with me . . . It won't be pleasant."

"I've been in things that weren't pleasant. Have you told Katherine and Ralph?"

"Yes. They're waiting at the hotel for us."

"Then let's not waste time. I'll have Katherine call my mother."

"There's no train out of here. We'll have to drive. Are you sure you want to do this?"

"You said I could help. I want to help you."

"Thanks."

Half an hour later they were driving silently through the twilight. Of the tragedy he could not speak, she thought, lest the hurt little boy in him cry, lest the memories of a younger brother cause his hand on the wheel to become unsteady.

When darkness dissolved the twilight, he said, "If you'd like to stop somewhere for dinner . . . I suppose we'd better. I don't imagine at home they've thought of eating."

They had dinner at a roadside restaurant and were soon on the highway crowded with Saturday night traffic.

Only then did he speak and then hoarsely, jerkily. "Dick is—was a sort of favorite of mine. We were pals even though he was the one who was always getting into jams and accidents. He used to laugh about getting the wrong breaks. Mother begged him not to buy that plane. It was worn out. She'd never go out and look up at him when he said he'd be flying over our home. I can't believe it! I can't . . . If we could just get through and not be held up this way!"

"We've only about two more hours. Try to be patient."

Dick said that this was too slow a way for him to travel . . . I'm afraid it's going to be pretty bad for you at home."

"It isn't bad for me at all, Stephen. There are things I can do, answer the telephone and the door and talk to people—things your family won't feel like doing."

"And she raised him for this to happen to him! I can't understand these things! It isn't right! It isn't fair! He's bigger than I am, six feet, three, and with everything to live for!"

"You aren't supposed to understand these things."

"I guess you thought I looked awfully funny when I came to you on the beach."

"I knew something was wrong."

He said, "Dick," under his breath and shook his head.

She knew how interminable the journey must seem to him and in the silence that settled between them again it occurred to her that a year ago she would not have come with him. The self-contained, satisfied Judith of a year ago who had never been hurt by anything would have regarded his suggestion to accompany him to a grief-stricken family as a breach of good manners. Were her sympathies nearer the surface than they had been a year ago? Because a year ago the ache of loss had been something of which she had only heard and read about. Funny, that she had to meet and love and lose Max so that she could be of small service to Stephen Larrabee in distress.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — Donald Nelson's WPB has announced the formation of 24 "committees of industry."

Over and over for the past four years this column has urged that our industries cannot be mobilized within themselves to act as a single unit responsive to the government's requirements, unless leading representatives of each be formed into separate industry committees.

Gen. Johnson.

These committees act as points of contact and all inclusive information between the government war-making agencies and the industries. Only in this way can all operate as parts of a single machine to pool patents, trade secrets and resources, to guide production through the most fruitful channels and to see that every ounce of resources and facilities are put to their maximum uses.

Over and over again, for a much longer period than four years, B. M. Baruch, who is the best articulate voice of actual experience on this subject, has placed the immediate formation of these committees as necessary step No. 1 in industrial mobilization.

Did it do any good? Oh, no. He was listened to with much wordy approval by the amateurs who were doing his old job, but, except in a half-hearted way, little was done and what was attempted was carried out with so little understanding and sympathy by the government that it might as well have been omitted altogether.

Something worse than nothing was done. At every pitiful inadequate effort the department of justice let out a warning growl that such co-operation by industries, even at the instance of government and no matter how much the public interest and security of the nation might be involved would be a "conspiracy in restraint of trade" and would be prosecuted in the federal courts as a crime.

It is a little hard to see how a necessary combination of facilities, in which the government of the United States is the guiding and leading party, could be a "conspiracy" against the laws of the United States. But such has been the attitude of the department of justice and such it still is.

Nevertheless, Nelson has apparently done the deed in part, and very late. I don't know what magic was used to calm the fears of industrialists. One could think it was a nod from the boss, if, on the very eve of the action, the attorney general had not risen on his hind legs and insisted to a group of prominent New Dealers that the New Deal is a political party whose policies must continue—war or no war.

Surely, in the eyes of extreme New Dealers, that is true. It is a party of special groups, attracted to a central standard by handouts from the public treasure and otherwise, to bring under one roof the combined voting-power of organized labor, most of agriculture and all the "have-nots" against all the haves.

As long as the pap holds out, that is enough to elect any person and party continuously. This new party, as one guest who heard the attorney general's speech said, "is more dynamic than Fascism and more revolutionary than Communism."

Yes, it is heap big medicine to build a winning party as long as the pap holds out. But that cannot be forever. We are in a war and most of the pap is already either spent or committed. Also, because we are in a war, we need unity and the full organization and co-operation of all groups—both the haves and the have nots — both industry and labor—and we don't need a new political fight over the New Deal. It is in the saddle for the duration no matter what happens.

The action of the department of justice in threatening to punish the necessary complete mobilization of industry, and of the attorney general in bespeaking a new dead-cat-flinging contest for the coming congressional elections, are just about the worst and most ill-timed things that could happen to crown our unrelieved succession of blunders since the day we declared war.

FATHER ADMITS SLAYING TO HIS FIVE CHILDREN

'Tell the Truth,' Say Boys and Girl as Parent Asks Their Advice.

(By United Press)

ROCKFORD, Ill. — Horace Leo Turner, 51, called in his five children, told them he had murdered their step-mother and asked them what he should do.

"It could make it harder for the cops by not confessing," he said.

Four boys and a girl, ranging in age from eight to 15, stood about him silently.

"Tell the truth, daddy," one of them said. The others agreed.

While Turner, a tire worker, was left alone in a room at States Attorney Max Weston's office, Weston and police "overheard" the conversation from an adjoining room.

Turner called them in.

"I killed her," he said. "I shot her because she didn't deserve to live. I didn't want her to ruin anybody else.'"

He told authorities they must wait until another daughter arrived from his sister's home at Davenport, Ia., before he would make a full confession.

After she arrived at the office with Deputy Sheriff William E. Bell, Turner told them he had borrowed a 12 gauge shotgun from Robert Erbentraut, 41, Winnebago county farmer, and drove a truck to the William Mitchell residence on the outskirts of Rockford, Sunday night.

His wife, Mrs. Margaret Turner, 32, had boarded there for several months, after a violent quarrel with Turner.

Turner crept up to the parlor window, Weston said, and saw his wife lying on a davenport listening while William Mitchell, jr., 28, strummed a guitar.

Turner admitted he shot her through the window and hid the gun and shells in a field, Weston said. Authorities found him at his rooming house and took him to the sheriff's office for questioning.

UP and DOWN THE STREET

The "police siren" heard at the Mansfield Community Players production of "Mr. and Mrs. North," last night, fooled not only the audience but it has also fooled the Mansfield police department in times past. Its shrill notes, heard twice during the performance, came not from any backstage piece of equipment but from the vocal chords of William Farst, 19, who helped to supply the "properties" for the show. Farst, who is associated with his fathe. in the jewelry business, is so adept at vocally making siren noises that he was enlisted for this part of the performance by Florence Kramer, co-chairman of properties.

When T. E. Taylor, 543 West Fourth street, left home on a business trip a couple of days ago, he told his wife the car would be in the garage where she and their daughter could use it. After Taylor had gone however, Mrs. Taylor found he had taken the garage key with him and she couldn't get the car out. As inventor of a portable field kitchen used by the U. S. army in World war I, Taylor is defense-minded, and his wife and daughter are wondering if he was having some fun with them or saving the tires.

It was agreed today that the lowest elevation in Richland county is at a point just west of Plymouth and not along U. S. Route 30 near Mifflin. When figures posted last week by County Engineer Howard Sword listed an elevation of 994 feet near Mifflin as the lowest, William Shaffner, Franklin township trustee, immediately produced evidence that Plymouth township has an elevation of 958 feet. The county engineer admitted his staff had posted the wrong figure.

After several months of discussion by city council, the Dominion Electric company last night finally received permission to build an overhead bridge across Elm street connecting their factory and a warehouse. The measure was held up for at least five meetings with its supporters being unable to get enough votes to have the empowering ordinance passed. Last night council learned that only a resolution and a majority vote was needed for the project and that Dominion had actually been given permission to build the new bridge last November.

HOUSE GROUP CALLS FOR ALL DATA ON LEVY

Members Impressed By Report Plan Would Yield $4,000,000,000.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The house ways and means committee today asked the treasury for all available data on a general federal retail sales tax as support for proposals that the war be financed partially through this type of levy appeared to be growing.

Some members, previously "on the fence" in the matter, conceded they were impressed by a suggestion from the New York State Chamber of Commerce that a "victory sales tax" be imposed with graduated rates, ranging from two or three per cent on low cost food and clothing to 10 or 15 per cent on higher priced items.

The chamber, through its official spokesmen, estimated that this tax would yield $4,000,000,000 in new federal revenue, while the treasury, which opposed a general sales tax, has estimated the yield of a straight five per cent tax at only about $2,000,000,000.

The committee, on motion of Rep. Robertson (D.), Va., an ardent supporter of the sales tax plan, agreed to call on treasury officials to present full statistical data on the matter.

Much of the support for a sales tax came from members representing states where such a levy already is in effect.

Rep. Jenkins (R.), Ohio, whose state also has a sales tax, said that "there has been little opposition to it there," and added:

"I think we'll find we won't get enough money out of new income and corporate and other taxes and we will come to a sales tax before we get through."

The committee swung back to work on the tax measure today after securing unanimous passage in the house of its bill to lift the legal ceiling on the national debt from $65,000,000,000 to $125,000,000,000.

In addition to stimulating interest in new forms of taxes, these huge figures also brought forth from members renewed demands that all non-war spending be trimmed to the bone.

CONGRESS STILL WANTS MERGER

Would Like Army and Navy Control Unified Despite FDR Coolness To Plan.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Despite President Roosevelt's coolness to unification of command proposals and his assertion that the military and naval forces are working together very well in their present state of organization, considerable sentiment persisted in congress today for a merger of the war and navy departments.

Some usually well informed senators believed that the administration is studying the problem and refuses to have its hand forced by congress.

President Roosevelt, asked at his press conference to comment on reports that a supreme, unified command was under consideration, said he thought it makes little difference whether the armed forces operate under one, two or three departments because they are all workig together very well. Mr. Roosevelt said he doubted that anyone knew exactly what the term supreme command means.

The latest move to merge the war and navy departments came in the senate, where Sen. Bennett C. Clark, D., Mo., introduced "by request" a bill proposed by Gen. Johnson Hagood, retired, in a recent magazine article.

Sen. Lister Hill, D., Ala., administration whip, said he favored an "overall staff" in Washington, which would co-ordinate and integrate the "three dimensions" of the fighting forces—land, sea and air—and "determine the grand strategy that will concentrate the greatest force at the enemy's weakest point."

GENERAL SAYS 'IF THEY WON'T WORK, ARMY DOESN'T WANT 'EM'

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Those who won't work aren't good enough to serve in the army, Lieut. Gen. Lear declared today.

"I do not appreciate—nor does any soldier—the remarks we sometimes read when there is a strike: 'Make them work or fight,'" the second army's commander said.

"The individual who is unwilling to work we don't want picked up and sent to us to join combat troops. He isn't good enough. We don't want his spirit, and we don't want his presence."

An aide said the general's remarks—in a speech to the Cleveland Advertising club—should not be interpreted as "passing judgment upon strikes in general," but rather as an expression of resentment against the "work or fight" slogan as derogatory to the army.

"If you want to discipline and make useful those who have refused to work faithfully with the team, let labor battalions be formed for them," Lear added.

"Draft them, yes; but our society of men being trained to fight and die for this republic is not a reform school.

In appraising the nation's war task, the army officer asserted man is the fundamental strength of the armed forces, adding:

"The final success of all efforts put forth by this nation will lie in the soldier who on the ground will wrest the ground from the enemy that has armored himself to hold it. No matter how much equipment is furnished him, man remains the master machine of war.

"He will be required to outmaneuver, out-fight and kill the sturdy, well-trained, experienced soldiers of Germany and Japan. It will take superior Americans of professional fighting capacity to defeat them."

REFUSES REVIEW

Supreme Court Upholds Court Here In Property Suit.

The Ohio supreme court today refused to review an appeal from a Richland county case in which the sheriff had been ordered to appraise and sell mortgaged property belonging to Nancy A. Ewing and others, Mansfield.

A common pleas court order had been issued here for sale of the property to satisfy a judgment obtained by Ernest D. Rathman who held a mortgage on the property.

The district appeals court, however, refused to grant the property owners an appeal from the order, holding that an appeal might not be based on the order itself though the sale might be protested in other ways.

Workers at Garber Plant In Ashland Settle Dispute.

ASHLAND—The 430 employes of the A. L. Garber Printing company who have been on strike since last Thursday returned to work today following settlement of their dispute. An A. F. of L. union of book binders, pressmen, and lithographers sought a closed shop.

Union spokesmen said today that under an agreement with the union which called the strike, company officials recommended that non-union employes become members, while new workers will be selected by the company with union approval.

Seven employes of the firm were not union members when the strike began, according to a union official.

Women Would Put Japs In Grease-- Via U. S. Army

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Cincinnati housewives moved today to put the fat in the fire—the fire of Uncle Sam's guns.

Weekly 150,000 pounds of fat usable to produce glycerine for ammunition goes from Queen City garbage cans to the city's incinerators, sponsors of the movement claim.

To encourage co-operation, butcher shops will offer 20 to 25 cents in defense stamps—depending on the current market price and quality of offerings—for each five pound can of meat grease.

The drive to make the housewife's skillet an implement in the nation's war production is reported to be operating with great success in Chicago from where it has spread to five other cities.

Last night at city hall representatives of rendering plants and city retail meat dealers association members mapped a local campaign. The national meat dealers' organization is undertaking the collection at the request of the federal bureau of conservation.

All retailers were requested to keep 50-pound lard containers on hand to collect what the housewife has left over after she—as every good cook does—has put aside a little for her own reuse.

Winbigler Makes AP All-Ohio High School Cage Team

Sport Podge by REX HESS

"They want us to join that professional football league with Middletown, Hamilton, Dayton, and the rest of that southern Ohio loop," reports Coach Earl McMullen of the Mansfield City News gridders, "but the way our boys are marching off to war, we won't have enough players left to form a basketball team, to say nothing of a football squad.

"But I think I'll attend their league meeting, just to find out the score, and maybe sometime after the boys come marching home we'll consider joining that circuit."

"Among the players we had last fall, Vetch Schwaner and Clarence Cox are in the navy, and Jack Schwartz is in the army," McMullen continued.

"And I hear that Gaylord Bucher and Joe Lehman are army-bound March 24, while my kid brother, Dick McMullen, is taking examinations for the air corps, and Joe Popovec isn't far away from an army call.

"By next fall I don't expect half our squad to be still living in Mansfield. You can just about start now counting us out of the 1942 campaign."

It's bad enough to lose a team that way, but when the army also steps in and takes the team's backer, things can't look very promising for semi-pro football in Mansfield next autumn.

Dapper Sam Saprano of the City News Sapranos is due to don army togs about the first of April.

"If you guys can't use those football uniforms here at home, maybe I'll take 'em along to the army with me," grins Sam.

"Those heavy jackets, with their snoods, and with 'Courtesy of City News' on the back, would look all right on an army team, wouldn't they?

"And if they send me to Alaska or Greenland or some such spot, I might take along one of those jackets for my own personal use. And I wouldn't care whether the eskimos, and seals and sea lions and polar bears could read that courtesy card or not."

* * *

Well, that's where that old saying came from—a tobacco-chewing, mustachioed Alaskan sourdough. The saying? "Keep a stiff upper lip, drip."

Lead League But Lose 1-2 Match

Tyger Star Placed On Third Quintet

Joe Romano Awarded Honorable Mention, Mt. Gilead Boy Honored

COLUMBUS—(AP)—While survivors of Ohio's 1,154 high school basketball teams battle on toward the state championships, the Associated Press presents today its annual all-Ohio scholastic honorary teams.

Made through the co-operation of coaches, officials and sports writers, the selections are based only on individual talent displayed in pre-tournament contests.

Won-lost records are tossed into the discard as the All-Ohio nominations attempt to give recognition to the boys who, because of bad breaks or inadequate team mates, fail to reach the state finals where they would have a chance at all-tournament mention.

Scores of individual stars, the coaches agree, are left along the wayside in the tournament race, as better-balanced teams roll on toward the titles. In fact, 1,122 full squads failed to reach the championship round.

More than 25,000 boys started the basketball season on the Buckeye scholastic front, about 5,000 in Class A and 20,000 in Class B. That means that five Class A members of the honorary team were "1,000 to 1" shots, while only one of each 4,000 in Class B made the grade.

Two players in Class A, Bill Herman of Dover and Don Crate of Greenfield, made the first team for the second straight year, while one Class B star, Chet McPhee of Canfield, repeated.

The kids come from everywhere—cities, towns, villages, centralized schools and crossroads—winning their berths through individual ability to play basketball in all its phases. Scoring prowess was among the prime requisites, but that ability alone could not win a place, for in several instances first team men were outscored by players given lower spots.

So close was the decision in making many selections that such elements as "reaction to coaching, sportsmanship, scholastic rating, etc.," were used as deciding factors.

* * *

The Class A first team is an all-senior quintet, but two juniors crashed their way into the Class B contingent.

N. C. O. League Fails to Act On Madison Membership Bid

The North Central Ohio high school athletic league last night received formal application for membership from Mansfield Madison high school—and placed it on file.

Principal S. F. Jamison of Ashland high school, who was re-elected president of the league at the meeting, held in Galion, explained that league schools felt the present six-team membership was large enough.

Marion high school, which has been forced to play all its basketball games away from home this winter because of lack of a gym with large enough seating space, indicated it would continue in the league, Jamison said.

This precluded any possibility of action on the Madison application at this time, he pointed out.

Marion also has made plans to compete in a new basketball league which includes Springfield and Lima Central, but indications are the Presidents will not join this league until they get a playing gym.

O. H. Shaff, principal of Shelby high school, was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the N. C. O league last night, and championship basketball trophies were awarded to Marion and Ashland, co-titlists, and to the Ashland reserve team. Basketball schedules for the 1943-44 season were approved.

Superintendent Olan LaRue of Madison high school said yesterday the Rams also were considering application for membership in the Central Buckeye league, where Loudonville has been highly successful in recent seasons.

Only drawback to membership in this circuit, LaRue pointed out, would be the fact that Madison would be on the outer edge of the league, and would have all the long trips to make

He indicated, however, that no serious effort would be made to enter any league or change Madison's present athletic setup until after the war, when conditions will return to normal.

"We'll probably do what most other high schools will be forced to do," LaRue said, "restrict our schedule to shortest possible traveling distances."

* * *

He reported that contracts for a football game at Columbus North high school at the opening of next season, were received yesterday The game previously had been listed on the Madison schedule as tentative.

Soldiers Stay Silent While Louis Does Training Routine

By JACK GUENTHER

FORT DIX, N. J.—(U.P.)—In the course of their work sports writers see many strange things. Some of the strangest are fight camps—places like Lakewood or Madam Bey's or Pompton Lakes.

I have seen a number of these camps and thought I had witnessed just about all they had to offer. Today I found that I was wrong, very wrong. Unmistakeably wrong. For today I saw the fight camp to end all fight camps—the training site within a training site where Private J. L. Barrow is preparing for his 21st heavyweight title defense.

The name of this camp is Fort Dix and it is a pretty big place. There are thousands upon thousands of young men living there and most of them are being readied for a more important fight than you will find in any ring. In the center of Fort Dix is a more personal camp. That is the Louis camp and, brother, it is military all the way.

There are no odd characters here. There is no hilarity. There is no horseplay. It is a fight camp in name only because at Fort Dix Louis is heavyweight champion in name only. At Fort Dix he is a soldier working in military surroundings under military regulations with military men supervising every move he makes when he isn't boxing.

He retires at 10 p. m. and is up at 6 a m He does road work first and at 10:30 a. m. he reports to Corp Robert Sherman, who drills him. Sherman has only one man in his squad and that is Louis. The corporal gives him the works—manual of arms, marching, gas mask instruction, military courtesy orders and the other essentials his mates are learning back at Camp Upton from where he was recently transferred.

At 1:30 p. m. he goes to the field house. I watched him yesterday, along with almost 2,000 of his buddies who happened to be off duty. The soldiers sat in stands along the wall. They were not permitted to smoke, to offer comment or to applaud before a round ended. They were so quiet that the entire scene seemed unreal—like a movie minus the sound track.

When Louis came out of the dressing room there was an M. P on each side of him. He boxed four rounds with four different spar mates and since he was 10 pounds overweight at 215 he was slow and his timing was poor. His hired hands tossed lefts at him and hit him oftener than he hit them. By next week, things will be different.

When the workout ended Joe punched the bag and then answered questions. He said he felt fine, that he hoped to weigh 205 when he meets Abe Simon March 27 and added: "I have to win because I'm fighting for the army."

From now until March 25 he will work out five times a week and continue taking a rifle apart and putting it back together, mastering drill and playing phonograph records in his leisure time—which totals about an hour.

ABC Keglers Given Advice

"Don't Try Fancy Stuff," Warns Charley Vance.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Some advice for newcomers to the American Bowling Congress tournament:

Don't try any fancy stuff on the alleys unless you're adept at it. You will do best by just bowling the sort of game you roll at home

The advice comes from Charley Vance, ABC field representative, who observed:

"For some reason or another, most bowlers come to the ABC each year bringing with them a very special delivery. Then they forget how they bowl at home and they stand up there and try something entirely new."

By the time this type decides he won't set the world on fire and relaxes into his natural style, he has done irreparable damage to his score, Vance said.

Only one change occurred in the tournament's leaders yesterday: The Kammer Hardwares of Cleveland rolled 2714 to take over 10th place in the five-man team standings.

"I'd have to start at the bottom in any work I might select after leaving college, so why not start at the bottom with the navy? There won't be any football playing for me. Let the other fellows play the football.

Howard Gets 628 In Transportation

Charley Howard banged out a 628 total on games of 232-197-199 to take top honors in the Transportation bowling league at Colony alleys last night.

Teal rolled high game of 243, giving Silver King Tractors a 1003 game and high total of 2679.

Barons Set New Record In Wins

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The shorthanded Cleveland Barons were satisfied today, after handing the Springfield Indians a 2-0 defeat at the Arena last night, and hanging up their 33rd win of the season—a new league record.

Springfield, already winners of the Eastern league title, had defeated the Barons four times this season prior to last night's fray. If the Barons can beat Hershey and Indianapolis, who are fighting for top spots in the Western league, they will meet Springfield in the playoffs.

* * *

Bill Beveridge, Cleveland goalie, was the hero of 7,200 hockey fans at the Arena last night. Given good protection, he made 31 stops in his seventh shutout of the season, while bringing Cleveland's total for the year to 70 points, highest mark attained by any club since the formation of the league.

Newcomers Reach Golf Semi-Finals

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Four players who never before have participated in the Miami Biltmore's international football golf tournament met today in the finals of the event.

Not since Mike Brady and Bill Mehlhorn won the initial tournament in 1924 have such long shots taken first prize of $1,000 each.

Matched in the 36-hole finals were Jack Grout of Pittston, Pa., and Ben Loving, Biltmore pro, against Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio.

It was the big chance for the players of both combinations. Both played spectacular golf yesterday to complete the conquest of the star-studded list of players who started play Sunday.

Grout clipped in from 60 feet out yesterday to put the clincher on a match with Jimmy Hines of New York and Willie Goggin of San Francisco, and Harper and Keiser eliminated the 1941 winners, Ben Hogan and Gene Sarazen, 5 and 4.

FORDHAM RAMS KEEP CROWLEY'S SYSTEM

NEW YORK—(AP)—The same system that brought Fordham university 72 triumphs and only 14 defeats in nine years under Jim Crowley will be continued with Earl F. Walsh, big, smiling Iowan, at the helm.

Walsh was named acting coach of the Rams last night, and Crowley was given a leave of absence to join the navy, where he probably will aid in toughening flying cadets by football methods.

PLAY "AT HOME"

CLEARWATER, Fla. — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians play their first "home" game of the training season today with the St. Louis Cardinals as their guests. Jeff Heath's signing was good news to Manager Lou Boudreau as his .340 hitting of last year was missed in the 1 to 0 loss to Washington yesterday.

THEATERS

Absorbing Drama.

"Remember the Day," a story that first won success on the stage, brings Claudette Colbert and John Payne to the Ohio screen today in a feature picture that spans the past 25 years of American life. Said to be a story that will arouse memories in every person the picture presents Miss Colbert as "Nora Trinell," a woman loved by two men, one destined for fame and honor and the other destined for service abroad. John Payne plays the romantic lead and the cast includes John Shepperd, Ann Todd, Jane Seymour and Frieda Inescort.

Stage Production.

"Midnight In Manhattan," a stage revue featuring Jai Leta, the French Sally Rand, and Kohn and Depinto from the Olson and Johnson shows will open a two-day engagement at the Madison today. The New Yorker Swing band, a chorus of eight "Dancing Manhattanettes," and a number of other star attractions hold forth in the production. The acts include the "3 Los Argentinos," formerly with the Ringling Circus; Billy Wade & Company, billed as the All-American wit; Dick Newell, juggler; Barnett Twins, singers, and the Four Mad Hatters, a comic foursome. Don Lasley is master of ceremonies. Lloyd Nolan in "Blue, White and Perfect," is the screen attraction.

Social Film.

"No Greater Sin," a film story dealing frankly with social disease problems, is showing at the Ritz. Designed for boys and girls of adolescent age as well as young men and women the picture deals with the damage that syphillis can do to the nation's war effort when it spreads into army camps and thickly populated defense districts. The story proper concerns a young couple whose lives were nearly wrecked by a social disease and a "quack" cure. John King and Arlene Judge in "Law of the Jungle," is the second attraction.

Comic Strip Story.

The characters in Billy De Beck's comic strip parade across the screen in "Private Snuffy Smith," opening today at the Park. The action of the picture takes place in the Tennessee mountains and a military camp in the area, and the cast includes Dud Duncan, veteran of the old Ham and Bud comedies, in the role of "Snuffy." Sarah Padden has the part of Snuffy's hillbilly wife and Edgar Kennedy and J. Farrell MacDonald are in the cast. Lupe Velez in "The Mexican Spitfire's Baby," a rollicking comedy is the second attraction.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

STEELS BOAST FAIRLY GOOD STOCK RATING

Their Improvement Is Offset By Further Fall of Other Leaders.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Steels had a fairly good footing in today's stock market but improvements here was offset by a further fall in some of the blue chips to the lowest levels for a year or more.

In the favored division were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Chesapeake & Ohio. Pushed down fractions to around 2 points to new lows were Dupont, Union Carbide and Eastman Kodak.

Although speculative contingents continued to hope for at least a temporary turn in the trend after an almost continuous decline in the last few months it was admitted the international news and tax prospects offered little incentive to potential buyers.

Among the trend indicators noted by business students was the report of the Edison Electric Institute which disclosed a slightly greater than seasonal decline in electric power output for the week ended March 7.

Outturn of 3,392,121,000 kilowatt hours was down ½ of 1 per cent from the previous week but 12.9 per cent ahead of the same time last year.

gent in his duty, he should be discharged."

The mayor expressed surprise that the two reporters could clamber all over the reservoir in their effort to show how vulnerable it would be to the work of Axis agents.

The News-Journal reporters took several photographs of the reservoir and a 6,000,000 gallon storage tank and then after having had plenty of time to destroy the water storage system—if they had been Axis agents—visited the increasing danger to shipping between Brazil and the United States.

Report U. S. Planes Sink Enemy Sub

HAVANA —(U.P.)— Survivors of two American tankers attacked by Axis submarines in the Caribbean were recovering today in Cuban ports at the eastern tip of the island.

The newspaper El Cristol reported from Santiago that United States planes located and sank a submarine shortly after it had shelled a tanker a few miles outside the Guantanamo bay naval station. Three American destroyers towed the partially destroyed vessel to the base.

Three members of the tanker's crew were reported dead, and 15 others were hospitalized at the Guantanamo naval hospital. Cuban laborers were quoted by newspapers that the tanker was named "Ojide."

At Baracoa, 38 survivors of the tanker Hanseat were preparing to leave for Havana. Their ship was torpedoed early Monday off Cape Maisi, at the easternmost end of Cuba.

Axis Subs Sink Two Ships Off U. S.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Ever bolder and swifter in their attacks, Axis submarines have sunk two ships in nearby waters in as many days.

In the latest and most brazen approach to the east coast since the United States entered the war, an enemy submersible with one well-aimed torpedo split in half the 6,766-ton Gulf Oil tanker Gulftrade early yesterday less than four miles off Barnegat, N. J.

Some time earlier, between 7 and 7:30 p. m. (EWT) Sunday, either the same raider or another with an aim almost as good blew asunder the 5,152-ton Brazilian cargo-passenger vessel Cayru about 130 miles off Ambrose light, Beacon for New York harbor.

The two sinkings, numbers 28 and 29 on the officially announced list of ships sent to the bottom off the U. S. east coast, apparently resulted in heavy loss of life, with a total of 76 still missing.

Sixteen of the 35-man crew of the Gulftrade were picked up by coast guard boats and landed safely at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, while 22 of 75 seamen and four of 10 passengers were rescued from the Cayru.

The captain of the Gulftrade, Torget Olsen of Port Arthur, Tex., said his ship was struck a few minutes after he had ordered the running lights put on "in order to avoid a collision with two ships ahead of us."

Legion's 'Iron Lung' Gift to City

The "iron lung" purchased by McVey Post American Legion for free use of residents of this vicinity is attracting widespread attention as it is exhibited in the lobby of the Richland Trust bank. Shown in the photograph above viewing the respirator are James L. Eberly (left) and Herbert R. Slough. A formal ceremony is planned for next Wednesday evening, when Commander Sam Fox of McVey Post will make the presentation address turning the "iron lung" over to the General hospital.

hadn't slept at all, only dozed. Try sleeping on a mattress half your length with someone hitting it from beneath with a baseball bat every few seconds and you get a rough idea of the beating and slapping the seas and fish gave us."

The next morning Aldrich, although a seaman by circumstance, proved he remained a midwesterner at heart.

"Chief, I see a field of corn," he said weakly to Dixon.

Dixon thought he was out of his head. Then the other two also saw the "cornfield" — an island with a cocoanut grove.

A hurricane buffeted the trio over reefs so rough that the island natives had left them unguarded, believing them unsuited for any landing parties. That night they huddled in a mat shack they found. Every moment they feared the hurricane would blow it away.

"We decided when we came ashore we would try to march and, if the island was Japanese, they would not find us crawling up to them," Dixon related. "But we could not straighten up.

"The next morning, island natives on beach patrol saw us, gave us kernels of cocoanuts and sent for help. They carried us to the governor's house.

"These boys showed plenty of stuff all the way through."

During their storm-tossed journey they had been so in need of food that Dixon even fought one shark with his bare fists. Aldrich also tried the bare-handed method—and a shark nipped him.

The water situation also baffled them at first. There was too much of it around them, but none to drink. They solved that problem by waiting for rain, taking off their soaked garments and squeezing the contents into a small container.

Dixon, who is partially deaf as a result of his experiences, a pistol having been discharged too close to his ear during a companion's justified eagerness to kill the albatross, has two wishes.

One, he wants to see his ranch at LaMesa. Two, he wants to go back to that South sea island some time.

It was the most beautiful "cornfield" he ever hopes to see.

Sir Stafford, former ambassador to Moscow and now lord privy seal, is known as a proponent of Indian self-government. He has the task to procure in India "the necessary measure of assent, not only from the Hindu majority, but also from those great minorities amongst which the Moslems are the most numerous and on many grounds preeminent," Churchill announced.

"We must remember that India has a great part to play in the world struggle for freedom, and that her help must be extended in loyal comradeship to follow the
